Set Swift Action On Election Law, Vote Financing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic majority in Congress is gearing for swift and favorable action on President Carter's election law package, but some Republicans are ready to fight Carter's plan for public financing of congressional campaigns.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., coined the phrase "kept congressmen" in voicing his opposition to public financing of campaigns and that phrase was echoed Tuesday by other GOP members of Congress.

The public financing provision, one of four major elements of the Carter package, drew the most criticism from the GOP.

But the votes on all elements of the package are likely to reflect the partisan assessments of the elected members of Congress.

Sen. John Tower of Texas, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, complained bitterly about Carter's voter registration proposal to allow persons to vote in federal elections simply by showing up on election day with proof of identity and residence.

Tower charged the proposal "opens the door to abuse." He cited "possibilities of voting tombstones, livestock and aliens."

Surveys show that Republicans, although outnumbered, are more likely to register and turn out to vote than Democrats. Some Republicans fear that most of the new voters the President wants to get to the polls will be Democrats.

Tower also had harsh words for public financing, which he said "perpetrates a hoax on the American people."

Tower contends that public financing gives people the impression that pressure groups would be kept out of political campaigns because they couldn't contribute money.

But Tower said the kind of manpower assistance that organized labor gives Democratic candidates is more valuable than money.

Although Carter's package did not suggest dollar amounts, a bill introduced in the House last week would provide taxpayer funding of up to $150,000 for congressional election races.

The other two elements of the Carter package were a constitutional amendment to eliminate the Electoral College and allow direct election of presidents, and a plan to amend the Hatch Act to permit greater participation in partisan politics by federal employees.

Many lawmakers believe the end is near for the Electoral College. Debate on the Hatch Act revision is likely to follow the same party line with a few Democrat defections that occurred when similar proposals were before Congress last year. Strong opposition by then-President Gerald R. Ford blocked their enactment.

due process with the right to be represented by an attorney, but not necessarily the right to a jury trial.

The Omnibus Juvenile Justice Reform Act cuts across the entire spectrum, according to Brown, affecting the 25-year-old juvenile code, the 75-year-old court system and the 125-year-old reform school system.

It would phase out over a two-year period the 120-year-old Fairfield School for Boys, near Lancaster, and funnel that institution's budget funds to community programs.

It would place a 200-inmate ceiling on state facilities; increase the role of county prosecutors in dealing with serious offenders; treat neglected, abused and dependent children as victims, rather than offenders; and send youthful traffic offenders to traffic court instead of juvenile court.

The bill would give courts more authority to deal with parents of accused juveniles by ordering family counseling and other remedies aimed at the entire family unit.

The prime sponsor, Judiciary Chairman Harry J. Lehman, also cosponsored a separate bill Tuesday that would permit those victimized by a juvenile theft to file a civil action against parents of the offender. Rep. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma, joined Lehman in offering the legislation.

More Water Projects On President's List

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is ready to announce a new "semi-final" list of as many as 32 water projects in danger of cancellation, according to members of Congress who received advance word of the decision.

The list, expected to be released today by the White House, includes many carryovers from an earlier, controversial list of 19 projects that Carter deleted from his fiscal 1978 budget recommendations last month.

But some water projects, including the large TennesseeTombigbee Waterway in Alabama and Mississippi, are new — although a number of them appeared on unofficial lists that have been circulating on Capitol Hill in the past few weeks.

Checks with congressional offices late Tuesday disclosed that the following new Corps of Engineer flood control, dam and lake projects are on the list, in addition to TennesseeTombigbee:

- Tyrone water project, Pa.
- Hillsdale dam, Kan.
- LaFarge Lake and channel improvements, Wis.
- Fulton, Ill., flood control.
- Gallipolis lock and dam, Ohio.
- Red River waterway, Texas Basin, Bayou Bodcau, and a Mississippi Gulf outlet study, all in Louisiana.

—Red River waterway, Texas portions.

Three Bureau of Reclamation projects are also reportedly on the list: the Narrows and Dallas Creek projects in Colorado and the Lyman project in Wyoming.

The bulk of the original 19 jeopardized projects were also reported to be on the new list, including the Central Arizona water project; the Auburn-Folsom south unit, Calif.; and Bonnevill project of Central Utah.

In its original list, the administration contended the costs outweighed the projects' benefits. It said scrapping the 19 projects would save almost $289 million in the next fiscal year and up to $5.1 billion in the long run.

The new list is a refinement and narrowing of lists that have been circulating on Capitol Hill in past weeks showing that more than 60 corps and bureau projects had failed initial screening by the administration.

Many members of Congress from both parties strongly protested the deletion of the original 19 projects from Carter's proposed budget.

To soften the blow this time, White House officials late last week began notifying individual members of projects that had passed initial screening — nearly 300 water projects in all.

Major Bills Advance In Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bills affecting schools, supermarkets, license plates and elections advanced in the legislature Tuesday.

The Senate approved 33-0 and sent the House a bill that helps school districts work out legal problems that resulted from this winter's school closings.

Senators added their approval to a House measure that increases guarantees for college student loans from 90 to 100 per cent, and makes nonresident students eligible for the program.

It goes back to the House for consideration of Senate amendments. Otherwise, key actions came in subcommittees.

A subcommittee of the House Commerce and Labor Committee reached agreement on a once-vetoed bill that requires individual marking of items in supermarkets switching to computer pricing codes.

Also in the House, a highways subcommittee recommended approval of a widely debated bill that revamps Ohio's auto license plate distribution system and permits purchase by mail for a $1.50 extra fee.

Across the Statehouse, an elections subcommittee worked on its final draft of an election reform bill that would permit election day registration of voters and call for other changes making it easier to vote.

Buoyed by President Carter's endorsement of the concept last weekend, sponsoring Sen. Tony P. Hall, D-6 Dayton, said Ohioans would be allowed to vote after showing acceptable identification such as a driver's license, if his bill passes.

Carter's endorsement was for federal legislation that would provide for virtually the same thing except it would only cover presidential, vice presidential and congressional balloting.

Cardinal Kidnaped, Murdered

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP) — Emile Cardinal Biayenda, the Roman Catholic archbishop of Brazzaville, was kidnaped and murdered by three persons Tuesday night, the government announced today.

A communique issued by the ruling military committee of the Congolese Workers' party gave no details and no indication of the identity of the killers.

In Rome, a Vatican spokesman expressed "profound consternation" at the assassination of the African cardinal. Vatican sources said Cardinal Biayenda was the last official to visit President Marien Ngouabi before he was assassinated last Friday.

Radio Brazzaville announced Tuesday that former President Alphonse Massamba-Debat, whom Ngouabi overthrew in 1968, had confessed to organizing a plot to kill Ngouabi and regain control of the government.

Cardinal Biayenda, 50, was born in Mpangala, near Brazzaville, in what was then the French Congo. He was ordained a priest in 1958 and became archbishop of Brazzaville in 1971. Pope Paul VI made him a cardinal in 1973.

The cardinal is the second African archbishop to die a violent death this year. The Anglican archbishop of Uganda, Janani Luvum, was killed in February shortly after he was arrested on charges of plotting against President Idi Amin.

Weather

Partly cloudy and cool today and tonight with a high near 45 and a low near 25. Sunny and warmer tomorrow with a high near 50. There is a 20 per cent chance of rain or snow today, tonight, and tomorrow. The high Tuesday was 43, while the low last night was 25.

Sen. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, carried the school closing legislation which enables school districts to cite weather as well as fuel shortages as a legal reason for halting classes up to 15 days a year.

An earlier measure, enacted at the height of the winter freeze, provided the waiver for fuel shortages only, and didn't make allowances for later pleas from rural areas that snowed under highways often were as much a problem as gas or fuel oil.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said broadening of the college loan program will make from $10 million to $20 million in new loan money available next year. Last year, 21,000 Ohio students borrowed $31 million from the student loan commission, he said.

A Senate amendment provides, in addition to the 100 per cent guarantee, some added incentive for Ohio's banks and lending institutions to participate in the program.

It says that no bank, savings and loan, or other lending institution can be a depository for interim state funds unless they offer the loans. Sponsors said about 20 per cent of the lenders now holding state funds currently do not participate in the program.

Social Security Ruling A Landmark

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has told Congress it can pass laws that treat women differently from men — at sometimes to mean billions of dollars to millions of people.

Three weeks ago, the court struck down amendments to the Social Security Act that require a widower and the husband of a retired woman to prove he was dependent on his wife in order to collect benefits accrued during her working career.

No such requirement faced widows or wives of retired men. The court voted 5 to 4 that Congress couldn't justify the difference.

"To withstand constitutional challenge ... classifications by gender must serve important governmental objectives," the court's majority said. Women's right to equal protection under the law was violated because although they paid as much Social Security taxes as men, their taxes weren't buying as much protection for their spouses, the majority said.

However, in an unsigned unanimous decision handed down Monday, the court looked at another discrepancy in how Social Security laws treat the sexes and gave its blessing.

The court upheld a part of the law in effect from 1956 to 1972 that allowed retired women to collect slightly higher benefits than men with the same earnings record.

"The legislative history is clear that the differing treatment of men and women was not the accidental byproduct of a traditional way of thinking about families, but rather was deliberately enacted to compensate for particular disabilities suffered by women," the court said.

The old provision was challenged by a retired New York man who is still receiving less money each month than if he were a woman. He said that when Congress equalized the payments in 1972, it should have made them retroactive. Lower federal courts agreed with him.

The Supreme Court disagreed. "That Congress changed its mind ... does not constitute an admission that its previous policy was invidiously discriminatory," it said.

Still confused about the distinctions? You're in good company.

The four court members who dissented in the first case — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices William H. Rehnquist, Harry A. Blackmun and Potter Stewart — registered their delight to be on the winning side in the second.

They admitted, however, that they found it "somewhat difficult to distinguish" the court's conclusions in the two cases.

Artificial Cheese Made

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — How about a pizza to go with double soybeans but hold the anchovies?

The Fisher Cheese Co. hopes that refrain will become commonplace as it continues marketing its artificial mozzarella cheese made mostly from soybeans and casein.

Kulbir Sabharwal of the company's research and development department, said the new cheese is "more of a mozzarella cheese substitute than a mozzarella imitation." The advantage to the artificial cheese its that it has as much food value, but fewer calories and no cholesterol, he said.

Sabharwal said it's hard to tell the difference between the soybean cheese and the real thing. Both have the same bland taste.

Fisher is one of four companies now producing and marketing the nondairy cheese. Sabharwal said the cheese has been available to the public for about six months.

One of the firm's previous ventures was selling "Moon Cheese," which was marketed in 1969 as "unofficial samples of the moon." Astronaut Neil Armstrong, who first set foot on the moon, is a Wapakoneta native.

Social Security Ruling A Landmark

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has told Congress it can pass laws that treat women differently from men — sometimes.

The test, the nation's highest court said in a pair of recent rulings on Social Security laws, is what purpose Congress has in mind.

Here's how a slim majority of the court's nine members sees it:

If the differing treatment is rendered to help compensate for past discrimination suffered by working women, it's constitutional.

If it is ordered "with no more substantial justification than the archaic and overbroad generalizations or old notions" about women's role in the family and on the job, it's unconstitutional.

The distinction is more than just words. It has meant and will continue to mean billions of dollars to millions of people.

Three weeks ago, the court struck down amendments to the Social Security Act that require a widower and the husband of a retired woman to prove he was dependent on his wife in order to collect benefits accrued during her working career.

Juvenile Justice Reform Faces Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill promising sweeping reforms in Ohio's juvenile justice system appears headed for a protracted struggle in the legislature, supporters concede.

"We have been deluged in my office with lots of criticism—and some praise," said Atty. Gen. William J. Brown who drafted the bill, based on recommendations of his Task Force on Juvenile Justice.

"The problem we have is that we don't have a vehicle for treatment of 95 per cent of the juveniles that happen to get in trouble in the state," Brown said Tuesday.

The bill is an attempt to shift emphasis from state facilities to local and regional programs, where "non-dangerous" youths—runaways, truant, and "unruly children"—can get less restrictive treatment.

It would also provide a "bill of rights" for juveniles, guaranteeing due process with the right to be represented by an attorney, but not necessarily the right to a jury trial.

The Omnibus Juvenile Justice Reform Act cuts across the entire spectrum, according to Brown, affecting the 25-year-old juvenile code, the 75-year-old court system and the 125-year-old reform school system.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices, down for four straight sessions, revived a little today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, and advances took a lead over declines among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted that some of the glamor issues, including IBM, started to recover late in Tuesday's session, an indication the market might rally today.

Early prices today included: Sony Corp., the NYSE's most active issue Tuesday, up 1/4 to 10 1/2. The company reported higher quarterly earnings.

Mattel Inc. was next, down 1/4 to 5 1/2 and Westinghouse Electric was third, unchanged at 17 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 2.58 to 950.96. Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 3-2 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 18.66 million shares, against 18.04 million on Monday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .16 to 54.93.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .23 at 112.59.

Water Rationing Tightened In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Surrounded by drought-stricken counties already rationing water, San Franciscans now will have to cut their use to face what the mayor calls "the most desperate matter facing this city since World War II."

Car washings and full swimming pools are banned in the regulations passed Tuesday by the Public Utilities Commission. The rationing "will be very demanding" for this city's 665,000 residents, Mayor George Moscone said at a commission hearing.

The water conservation policy, which goes into effect April 1, is designed to cut overall consumption by 25 per cent.

The plan allows each dwelling unit — single home or apartment — to use up to 70 per cent of the amount used in the same period last year.

Industrial customers, however, will be required to reduce consumption only 10 per cent from what they used a year ago, to avoid what water department manager Ken Boyd called "a can of worms leading to personnel layoffs ..."

The average four-person family in San Francisco last year used a daily average of 221 to 331 gallons, making a bi-monthly average of as much as 19,860 gallons.

A few households will use more than that, but once their consumption exceeds 22,500 gallons bi-monthly, they will be forced to cut back to just 50 per cent of what they consumed a year ago.

Boyd said consumers will be allowed one minor infraction and a second infraction will result in a written warning.

But if the customer exceeds the limit a third time, a device will be installed on his pipes to limit how much water he can get. And he'll have to pay for the punishment: a minimum of $25 to install and another $25 to remove.

Residents were told at the hearing that every drop of water will have to count as the two-year drought that has parched the northern two-thirds of the state continues unabated.

With rainfall down 40 per cent from normal because of an offshore high pressure area which has blocked storms coming in from the sea, the city's reservoirs contain about 37 billion gallons of water, compared with 65 billion gallons in normal seasons.

A-C Board Hires Principals

At a continued session of the Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education meeting Monday, Wayne Evans and Robert Christy were hired as principals and Rebecca Shook was hired as assistant principal.

A committee to research fuel oil for the new building heating system was appointed, consisting of W. A. Smith, Don Davis, Alan Reid, Don Myers and Joe Young. This team will investigate all possibilities before a decision is made.

Money was borrowed from the bond retirement fund for the general fund for payment of bills from 1976. This money, totaling $26,939.32 will be returned upon collection of the real estate taxes.

The Vocational Agriculture department was granted permission to hold a tool auction during the third week of April.

The resignation of Ann Glendenning was accepted by the board. She was a study hall monitor and a clerk-custodian for the high school activity account. Delores Fraunfelter was hired for the remainder of the school year for the position.

The board held a discussion about the financial situation of the school district. With 93 per cent of the board's money mandated by the State of Ohio, the board is unable to operate the school district on the remaining seven per cent. At the present time, the board is considering running a levy on the June ballot for operating funds.

Bids for the new public works grant for the well at the Stoutsville building will be opened April 20. It is funded by the federal government. Bus bids were also set for advertising.

A special meeting of the board was set for March 29.

PTO News

The March meeting of the Pickaway Twp. School P.T.O. will be held 7:30 p.m. March 24.

During the meeting, the annual spring music program will be held. "The Wizard of Oz" will be presented by the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, directed by Mrs. Kathryn Hill. Everyone is invited to attend.

Six Candidates File For Primary Election

With the deadline for filing petitions for the June primary election at hand, it appears there will be no contested races and no party-preference vote.

Six candidates have filed completed petitions with the Pickaway County Board of Elections while eight other people have failed to offer their names for various races in the city government.

The filing deadline is 4 p.m. Thursday.

In the primary, electors from both major parties select representatives for the November general election.

To be elected in November are members of city council from the first, second, third, and fourth wards, and three to fill at-large council seats; a council president; a city treasurer; and a judge for the Circleville Municipal Court.

Thus far, Republicans Glen Stephen Jones, Tommy Wells, and J. Bruce Bell had filed petitions for the at-large posts; Democrat John Jenkins has filed as second ward councilman; Democrat Paul E. Roan has filed for the fourth ward; and Republican Dixie Watters has filed for the fourth ward.

Persons who have requested petitions but who have not returned them include:

Joe Tomlinson, Donald Greeno, and Charles D. Caudill, Democrats, councilman at-large;

Bryl Wiggins and Joe Tomlinson, Democrats, first ward;

Harold Hoffman, Democrat, third ward;

David Crawford, Democrat, council president;

O. Charles Hosterman, Republican,

Insurance Benefits Asked By Deputies

Pickaway County commissioners Monday met with a delegation from the Sheriff's office to discuss the wage scale and paid health insurance for members of the department.

Commissioners are conducting a survey to see how much it would cost to provide the employee's share of hospitalization as a fringe benefit for county employees. They indicated that if funds are available, the benefit will be provided to all county workers wanting it. However, employees would be expected to pay the additional premium required for family protection.

Also Monday the commissioners authorized county engineer Henry McCrady to employ the firm of Dummond and Sifford to conduct a survey of the Circleville-Tarilton Road from Thatcher to Zane Trail Road. Purpose of the survey is to determine the cost of widening the road.

J.P. Davidson and Company, crime prevention consultants met with commissioners to describe a crime alarm system they provide. The computerized system could be placed in schools, businesses and homes in the county at an average cost of $1,150 per installation.

These various systems would be monitored by a base unit which would be located in the sheriff's office and would cost $3,150. The firm said that the schools in the county have already indicated an interest in such a system. The base computer could monitor 1,000 sites.

Members of the disaster services planning committee also met with commissioners to discuss plans for floods and tornados. Present at the meeting were John Leist, disaster services coordinator; Mrs. Etha Mae Wolford, Red Cross; Ed Bohenko, Mrs. Jean Ankrom of the chamber of commerce.

Deputy Resigns

Terry L. Frazier, a Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff for two years, has resigned from his position because of inadequate wages and benefits.

In a letter of resignation to Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Frazier noted that he saw "little chance" for advancement.

He cited "inadequate benefits for the amount of dedication expected," and said that he was seeking a job with a more secure future.

Sheriff Radcliff also said that he suspended veteran Deputy Sheriff Billy Huffman for three days because of conduct unbecoming of an officer and dereliction of duty.

Huffman apparently failed to report for work Monday. The three-day suspension without pay will end Friday, Sheriff Radcliff said.

The actions of the two officers apparently stems from a wage and benefit dispute with Pickaway County Commissioners.

A committee of Deputies has been meeting with commissioners in an attempt to have the county implement hospitalization insurance and liability insurance for the officers.

Another meeting has been called for Monday to discuss findings of an insurance survey of county employees which has been conducted by the Deputies.

According to Sheriff Radcliff, the officers are paid a standard salary by the Commissioners regardless of length of service. The department receives no overtime for hours over 40 a week, are on-call 24 hours a day, and have to work holidays.

Besides the salary, the county pays for uniforms and dry-cleaning. The Department received a 2.8 per cent salary increase in 1976 and were awarded a flat 5 per cent pay raise with other county employees in 1977.

County Auditor Attends Meeting

Margaret Remy, Pickaway County Auditor, attended the Southwestern Division of County Auditor's meeting in Wilmington, March 18 at the Elks Club. Clinton County Auditor, William Fife and Chief Deputy Jeff Teeters were hosts.

Auditors from the following counties were present: Auglaize, Champaign, Clark, Clermont, Fayette, Highland, Logan, Montgomery, Preble, Shelby and Adams. Special guest was Dale Teeters, who is associated with Sabre Company.

The meeting consisted of discussion of the various bills pertaining to the auditor's office coming before the state legislature at this time. The Legislative Committee of the organization gave their report and recommendations on the various bills.

A tentative date of April 4 was set to meet in Washington C.H. for a seminar on tax settlements, because of the changes brought about by House Bill 920.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices, down for four straight sessions, revived a little today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, and advances took a lead over declines among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted that some of the glamor issues, including IBM, started to recover late in Tuesday's session, an indication the market might rally today.

Early prices today included: Sony Corp., the NYSE's most active issue Tuesday, up 1/4 to 10 1/2. The company reported higher quarterly earnings. Mattel Inc. was next, down 1/4 to 5 1/2 and Westinghouse Electric was third, unchanged at 17 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 2.58 to 950.96. Losers outnumbered gainers by about a 3-2 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 18.66 million shares, against 18.04 million on Monday.

The NYSE's composite index lost .16 to 54.93.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .23 at 112.59.

However, employees would be expected to pay the additional premium required for family protection.

Also Monday the commissioners authorized county engineer Henry McCrady to employ the firm of Dummond and Sifford to conduct a survey of the Circleville-Tariton Road from Thatcher to Zane Trail Road. Purpose of the survey is to determine the cost of widening the road.

J.P. Davidson and Company, crime prevention consultants met with commissioners to describe a crime alarm system they provide. The computerized system could be placed in schools, businesses and homes in the county at an average cost of $1,150 per installation.

These various systems would be monitored by a base unit which would be located in the sheriff's office and would cost $3,150. The firm said that the schools in the county have already indicated an interest in such a system. The base computer could monitor 1,000 sites.

Members of the disaster services planning committee also met with commissioners to discuss plans for floods and tornados. Present at the meeting were John Leist, disaster services coordinator; Mrs. Etha Mae Wolford, Red Cross; Ed Bohenko, Mrs. Jean Ankrom of the chamber of commerce.

Deputy Resigns

Terry L. Frazier, a Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff for two years, has resigned from his position because of inadequate wages and benefits.

In a letter of resignation to Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, Frazier noted that he saw "little chance" for advancement.

He cited "inadequate benefits for the amount of dedication expected," and said that he was seeking a job with a more secure future.

Sheriff Radcliff also said that he suspended veteran Deputy Sheriff Billy Huffman for three days because of conduct unbecoming an officer and dereliction of duty.

Huffman apparently failed to report for work Monday. The three-day suspension without pay will end Friday, Sheriff Radcliff said.

The actions of the two officers apparently stems from a wage and benefit dispute with Pickaway County Commissioners.

A committee of Deputies has been meeting with commissioners in an attempt to have the county implement hospitalization insurance and liability insurance for the officers.

Another meeting has been called for Monday to discuss findings of an insurance survey of county employees which has been conducted by the Deputies.

According to Sheriff Radcliff, the officers are paid a standard salary by the Commissioners regardless of length of service. The department receives no overtime for hours over 40 a week, are on-call 24 hours a day, and have to work holidays.

Besides the salary, the county pays for uniforms and dry-cleaning.

The Department received a 2.8 per cent salary increase in 1976 and were awarded a flat 5 per cent pay raise with other county employees in 1977.

County Auditor Attends Meeting

Margaret Remy, Pickaway County Auditor, attended the Southwestern Division of County Auditor's meeting in Wilmington, March 18 at the Elks Club. Clinton County Auditor, William Fife and Chief Deputy Jeff Teeters were hosts.

Auditors from the following counties were present: Auglaize, Champaign, Clark, Clermont, Fayette, Highland, Logan, Montgomery, Preble, Shelby and Adams. Special guest was Dale Teeters, who is associated with Sabre Company.

The meeting consisted of discussion of the various bills pertaining to the auditor's office coming before the state legislature at this time. The Legislative Committee of the organization gave their report and recommendations on the various bills.

A tentative date of April 4 was set to meet in Washington C.H. for a seminar on tax settlements, because of the changes brought about by House Bill 920.

Musical Hit 'Cabaret' Presented At Playhouse

"Cabaret," the award-winning Broadway musical will be the outstanding presentation at the Country Dinner Playhouse through May 22.

"Cabaret" won all three of the "best musical of the year" awards in its first season, the Tony Award, the N.Y. Drama Critics' Circle Award and the Outer Circle Critics Award. When the show was given in London, it won London's Variety poll and the Evening Standard poll as the best musical of the year over there.

The music for "Cabaret" was written by John Kander, the lyrics by Fred Ebb, and the story to which they fitted their songs is by Joe Masteroff. "Cabaret" is a tale of tarnished innocents abroad in a land with no time for innocence — Berlin in the years just before Hitler came to power. A sense of impending doom drove people to a forced and frantic gaiety, and it echoes the frenzied bitter-sweetness expressed in Marlene Dietrich's movie of the era, "The Blue Angel," and Kurt Weill's music.

"Cabaret" begins in a gaudy nightclub where a mincing, smirking, clown-faced master of ceremonies — sings an impudent song of welcome to the cabaret's uneasy customers.

Sally Bowlers played by Isabelle Farrell, and Clifford Bradshaw, played by Scott Chamberlin, are the outsiders caught up in the events taking place in the glitter and frenzy of Berlin in those days. She is a restless, reckless English girl trying to believe in her singing talent, he an American hoping to become a writer and fatalistically drawn to her.

Miss Farrell is an accomplished actress, dancer and comedienne. She recently returned from an extended tour with the first national company of "Mame" as Agnes Gooch. Isabelle was also featured as Minnie Fay in two national companies of "Hello Dolly" starring Carol Channing and Ginger Rogers. During the tour she had the honor of performing for President Johnson at the White House.

31 Park Rangers Graduate Friday

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has just completed an intensive law enforcement training course in the Division of Parks and Recreation.

A Ranger Cadet class of 31 members will graduate Friday from the Ohio Ranger Training Academy near Zaleski, Ohio after 10 weeks of full time training including 320 hours of actual classroom experiences in police procedure.

The academy was administered by Commandant Edward P. Goffos under the supervision of Division of Parks and Recreation Chief Ralph Vanzant and Department of Natural Resources Director Robert W. Teater.

Each Ranger received a certification from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, and also received a certificate for having completed an approved Ohio Peace Officers Training Council Course.

Four Rangers will be assigned to this area. Floyd White, a graduate of Chillicothe High School and Ohio University, will be stationed at Tar Hollow State Park. John E. Monce Jr. is a 1974 graduate of Ohio State University, and will be stationed at Deer Creek State Park. Neal Brady is a 1975 graduate of Ohio State University, and will be the campground supervisor at Deer Creek State Park. Robert A. Kelch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kelch of Hillsboro, is a 1976 graduate of Morehead State University in Kentucky. Kelch will be stationed at Deer Creek State Park.

On Broadway critics and audiences praised her interpretation as Don Ameche's tomboy daughter in "13" daughters. Other Broadway shows include "La Plume De Ma Tante," "A To Z," and "Happy Town."

At Country Dinner Playhouse she appeared as Charity in "Sweet Charity" and as Irma in "Irma La Douce."

In "Cabaret," the young couple's romance is echoed by a middle-aged couple. Her Schultz is a Jewish shopkeeper who deludes himself that the Nazi movement is no threat to him and Fraulein Schneider is a sadly resigned rooming-house keeper with whom he hopes to end his loneliness. A.D. Cover plays shopkeeper, while Joye Hash is played by Fraulein Schneider.

Buff Shurr is the director who is keeping the tunes and the story spinning. He also directed the musicals, "1776" and "Fiddler on the Roof" at the Country Dinner Playhouse.

The matinee schedule for "Cabaret" is March 20, 26, 27; April 2, 3, 6, 15, 16, 19, 23, 30; May 1, 8, 11, 14, 21, and 22. Among American musical plays "Cabaret" ranks up there with "West Side Story" and "Fiddler on the Roof". Of course you'll want to see it. Come to the cabaret, old chum.

WHAT IS IT? — The little specs in the hand are mushrooms, the first of the season for Vic Riffle, who owns the hand in the picture. Riffle, of Route 3, and Jerry Vanderpool, of Route 2, found the little morsels in an area "near town." The largest mushroom did not quite make an inch, while the smallest were fractions of an inch.

A Page Of Opinion

Working For Results

What happens when an educator assumes the responsibility for a school which has slipped academically and steps in with a firm hand to turn things around? In the case of New Jersey Passaic County's Community College, among the first acts of its new president was to suspend or place on probation one-third of the student body because of failing grades.

That was followed by scrubbing the basketball season because too many of the team members had sub-standard grades and tripling the minimum classroom teaching requirements of the faculty.

"I just feel that a student needs discipline and structure, and that a teacher needs to be in the classroom. You need to learn the basics before you can take other courses," explained the 42-year-old president, Dr. Gustavo A. Mellander.

Naturally, Dr. Mellander was the subject of many criticisms — until the results began coming in. One of the first was in the college's nursing school. In the year before Dr. Mellander took over, only 38 per cent of the graduates passed state boards. In his first year, 76 per cent passed.

Learning that a little discipline and getting down to work produce results is not a bad lesson, in or out of school.

Earned Her Medal

By JIM BISHOP

She was tiny and slender, a grinning imp. She wore men's clothing and a high silk hat, a wing collar and a black bow tie. This was Doctor Mary Edwards Walker, the only woman ever to win the Congressional Medal of Honor.

In almost every facet of her personality, Dr. Walker was unusual. She taught school near Oswego, New York, when she was only 16. In an era — 1850 — when advanced education for women was considered a waste of time, Mary Walker took the entrance examinations to become a physician at the Syracuse Medical College.

The faculty, in its most indulgent tone, begged the girl not to do it. Medicine was a field for men. Mary said that if she passed with high marks, they could not keep her out of school. She passed. The faculty became grim and silent.

In 1855, her high grades got her a certificate to practice as a surgeon-physician. She stood on a box to dissect cadavers. Mary set up a practice in Columbus, Ohio. Her only patients were enfeebled women. She moved to Rome, New York. The male doctors made fun of her.

She married early, but her husband was unsympathetic. Mary was bright, clever, but he wanted a wife at home in hoopskirts. The doctor said that one of the reasons she wore men's clothing was because hoopskirts were "immodest and revealing," and corsets were nothing more than "iron bands" designed to imprison females.

Mary won a divorce. She vowed to spend her life fighting female attire ("unhygienic") and male arrogance in denying women the right to vote. The establishment thought it could laugh Mary Walker offstage, but it didn't work.

Young ruffians pelted her with eggs. She was arrested in New York on a charge of impersonating a man. An editorial writer, with biting scorn, referred to her as the only "self-made man in the world."

If Mary Walker wept, no one saw it. Under the high silk hat, she kept the hair on her neck long and curled "so everyone will know I'm a woman." A big newspaper clarified: "What must be demanded by all who have the interests of the Republic at heart is the refeminization of Dr. Walker. Her trousers must be taken from her — where and how is, of course, a matter of detail."

When the Civil War began, Dr. Walker hurried to Washington to demand a commission as an army surgeon. It was refused. The generals said she could be a nurse. Walker said she was as good a doctor as any man.

She served at Warrenton, Virginia. She replaced an army doctor at Chattanooga. She amputated legs and arms in front line tents. For a time, she served as a Union spy. A Confederate patrol captured Dr. Walker in 1863. She was sent to a prison in Richmond.

In an exchange of prisoners, Dr. Walker was sent north, as she told it proudly: "Man for man." It was the mercurial President Andrew Johnson who awarded the coveted Medal of Honor. Mary Walker wore it on her lapel every day of her life.

She had earned it, even though the War Department was nebulous in its citation: "for service above and beyond the call of duty." Whatever that service was, no one wanted it after the war.

Dr. Walker preached voting rights for women. She preached that educating females was not a waste of time, but a necessity. A woman, she insisted, should be ready to support herself. Then came the heresy: "... they should receive equal pay for equal work instead of the pittance paid for women's work."

She was hooted everywhere, and Mary went broke. She begged for a job as a government clerk, but the politicians found a means of denying it to her. In 1898, grudgingly, the War Department gave her the Medal of Honor winner a pension of $20 a month.

Dr. Walker seemed tinier in her 80s, when she returned to the family farm near Oswego. Some citizens plotted to tar and feather the doctor, but she remained indoors. The final humiliation occurred when the government stated that awarding her the nation's highest honor had been a mistake. She was ordered to return the medal.

Dr. Walker wore it every day. "Once," she said when she was 87, "presidents, cabinet ministers and generals were glad to meet me and listen to me." The impish smile floated up. "I was younger then."

She died, a rebel to the last. This year, the Congress will vote whether to restore the precious medal she carried to the grave...

"Oh, shut up!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A 7-year-old boy was brought to my office with dog bites on his face, wrist and hand. His story is a typical one. A gentle-looking dog of medium size was hitched to a post outside a supermarket. His owner left him there with the natural assumption that he would not molest anyone. He was an "affectionate dog who had never bitten anyone."

My young patient rushed from his mother's side to pet the dog. With lightning speed, the accident occurred. Two factors deserve attention if the thousands of animal bites that occur each year are to be reduced.

The first is that no dog should be tied on a public thoroughfare while its owner is even momentarily away from it. The leashed dog is trapped. He is frightened because his owner is away and he knows he has no way of escaping should danger befall him. He must defend himself against any gesture, by a child or an adult, that he interprets as a possible threat.

The second factor is that everyone, especially children, must be taught the proper way to approach a strange animal.

1. Never approach a strange dog that is tied or locked in a car.
2. Don't disturb a dog while he is eating or chewing on a bone.
3. Don't frighten a dog by waking him suddenly.
4. Never pet a strange dog unless you first ask permission of the owner. He knows best if the animal is friendly.
5. Approach the dog with your hand extended. Let the dog come to your hand and sniff it. Talk to him gently at the same time. Then you can pat him on the head when he feels "properly introduced."
6. Remember that sudden quick motions can frighten even the most docile animal.

It is surprising how often the dog is less at fault than is the person who improperly approaches him. Until a child can thoroughly understand these basic rules of safety, petting any strange dog is an unnecessary hazard.

The pain of sewing wounds, the concern about rabies, the physical and emotional scars that can result from careless, misdirected affection to a strange dog hardly compensate for the possible pleasurable moment of petting a strange animal.

NEW YORK (AP) — The RealLemon case gets more fascinating. Now the U.S. Commerce Department argues that an opinion by a Federal Trade Commission judge could result in "palming off" goods on an unsuspecting public.

Not only that, it suggested, but the opinion by the FTC's chief administrative law judge, if left standing, might change common law, weaken trademarks and conceivably even promote a monopoly.

All this about that little green bottle of reconstituted lemon juice that almost every shopper has seen on grocery store shelves. It's in almost every one of them; it is overwhelmingly successful, dominating some markets.

That's part of the problem. Last September, Judge Daniel H. Hanscom of the FTC ruled that Borden Inc., whose product it is, unlawfully maintained a monopoly in the reconstituted lemon juice market.

He said Borden should license its competitors.

In his opinion this could be accomplished by having Borden accept a royalty of one-half of one per cent. For that price, competitors too could make and sell RealLemon, and even use the name Borden to prove it.

Borden officials were aghast. They denied they used discriminatory pricing and unfair promotional tricks to damage the market for others. In effect, they said the product won its dominance on quality alone.

At any rate, they added, it was unfair of Hanscom to limit the market as he had. RealLemon, said Borden, competed not just with other reconstituted lemon juices, but with fresh lemons, lemon extract and the like.

The Commerce Department looked at the decision for a few months and on March 7 intervened in the case, which still must be decided by the full commission. It seemed concerned mainly that trademarks could be damaged.

"The administrative law judge's initial decision," it noted, "orders the compulsory licensing of the RealLemon trademark based on a precedent of compulsory patent licensing." But, it said, a patent isn't a trademark.

Unlike trademarks, "patents are government grants, provided for by the Constitution, which give inventors the right to exclude others from making, using, or selling their inventions for 17 years," said the department, which regulates both.

"Conversely, trademarks are acquired by using the mark in commerce and represent the goodwill accorded to the owner of the mark by consumers," it said.

A patent is a government grant. A trademark is established by the owner of the mark and receives government protection to prevent the public from becoming confused or deceived. But licensing a trademark would do just that, it said.

The basic function of the trademark is to indicate the origin of a product, the Commerce Department brief continued, and to do this the trademark proprietor must have exclusive right to the mark.

Working For Results

What happens when an educator assumes the responsibility for a school which has slipped academically and steps in with a firm hand to turn things around? In the case of New Jersey Passaic County's Community College, among the first acts of its new president was to suspend or place on probation one-third of the student body because of failing grades.

That was followed by scrubbing the basketball season because too many of the team members had sub-standard grades and tripling the minimum classroom teaching requirements of the faculty.

"I just feel that a student needs discipline and structure, and that a teacher needs to be in the classroom. You need to learn the basics before you can take other courses," explained the 42-year-old president, Dr. Gustavo A. Mellander.

Naturally, Dr. Mellander was the subject of many criticisms — until the results began coming in. One of the first was in the college's nursing school. In the year before Dr. Mellander took over, only 38 per cent of the graduates passed state boards. In his first year, 76 per cent passed.

Learning that a little discipline and getting down to work produce results is not a bad lesson, in or out of school.

Earned Her Medal

By JIM BISHOP

She was tiny and slender, a grinning imp. She wore men's clothing and a high silk hat, a wing collar and a black bow tie. This was Doctor Mary Edwards Walker, the only woman ever to win the Congressional Medal of Honor.

In almost every facet of her personality, Dr. Walker was unusual. She taught school near Oswego, New York, when she was only 16. In an era — 1850 — when advanced education for women was considered a waste of time, Mary Walker took the entrance examinations to become a physician at the Syracuse Medical College.

The faculty, in its most indulgent tone, begged the girl not to do it. Medicine was a field for men. Mary said that if she passed with high marks, they could not keep her out of school. She passed. The faculty became grim and silent.

In 1855, her high grades got her a certificate to practice as a surgeon-physician. She stood on a box to dissect cadavers. Mary set up a practice in Columbus, Ohio. Her only patients were enfeebled women. She moved to Rome, New York. The male doctors made fun of her.

She married early, but her husband was unsympathetic. Mary was bright, clever, but he wanted a wife at home in hoopskirts. The doctor said that one of the reasons she wore men's clothing was because hoopskirts were "immodest and revealing," and corsets were nothing more than "iron bands" designed to imprison females.

Mary won a divorce. She vowed to spend her life fighting female attire ("unhygienic") and male arrogance in denying women the right to vote. The establishment thought it could laugh Mary Walker offstage, but it didn't work.

Young ruffians pelted her with eggs. She was arrested in New York on a charge of impersonating a man. An editorial writer, with biting scorn, referred to her as the only "self-made

man in the world."

If Mary Walker wept, no one saw it. Under the high silk hat, she kept the hair on her neck long and curled "so everyone will know I'm a woman." A big newspaper clarified: "What must be demanded by all who have the interests of the Republic at heart is the reformation of Dr. Walker. Her trousers must be taken from her — where and how is, of course, a matter of detail."

When the Civil War began, Dr. Walker hurried to Washington to demand a commission as an army surgeon. It was refused. The generals said she could be a nurse. Walker said she was as good a doctor as any man.

She served at Warrenton, Virginia. She replaced an army doctor at Chattanooga. She amputated legs and arms in front line tents. For a time, she served as a Union spy. A Confederate patrol captured Dr. Walker in 1863. She was sent to a prison in Richmond.

In an exchange of prisoners, Dr. Walker was sent north, as she told it proudly: "Man for man." It was the mercurial President Andrew Johnson who awarded the coveted Medal of Honor. Mary Walker wore it on her lapel every day of her life.

She had earned it, even though the War Department was nebulous in its citation: "for service above and beyond the call of duty." Whatever that service was, no one wanted it after the war.

Dr. Walker preached voting rights for women. She preached that educating females was not a waste of time, but a necessity. A woman, she insisted, should be ready to support herself. Then came the heresy: "... they should receive equal pay for equal work instead of the pittance paid for women's work."

She was hooted everywhere, and Mary went broke. She begged for a job as a government clerk, but the politicians found a means of denying it to her. In 1898, grudgingly, the War Department gave her Medal of Honor winner a pension of $20 a month.

Dr. Walker seemed tinier in her 80s, when she returned to the family farm near Oswego. Some citizens plotted to tar and feather the doctor, but she remained indoors. The final humiliation occurred when the government stated that awarding her the nation's highest honor had been a mistake. She was ordered to return the medal.

Dr. Walker wore it every day. "Once," she said when she was 87, "presidents, cabinet ministers and generals were glad to meet me and listen to me." The impish smile floated up. "I was younger then."

She died, a rebel to the last. This year, the Congress will vote whether to restore the precious medal she carried to the grave...

Woman, 88, Only Jogs Mile Per Day

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eula Weaver isn't as young as she used to be, so she's reduced her daily regimen of jogging to just one mile a day. After all, she is 88.

When it rains, and she can't jog the full mile around a high school track near her suburban Santa Monica home, she mounts the stationary bicycle in her living room and pedals 10 miles or so.

She also goes to a local gym three times a week and pedals 10 miles before dinner.

Mrs. Weaver suffered a stroke a decade ago and was nearly paralyzed. "I could hardly walk at all," she said, explaining the effects of the stroke combined with arthritis in her hands and knees.

Doctors gave her two choices — spend the rest of her life as an invalid, being hand-fed and clothed, or get out of her rocking chair and start walking again, no matter how painful.

It didn't take her long to decide. She vowed she would "try everything in this world to get back to normal."

Following her doctor's advice, she started slowly, walking gingerly at first, pushing herself even though it hurt, and deadening some of the pain with pills.

She moved from Illinois to southern California to be near her grandson, went on a strict health-oriented diet and started running. Soon, she was jogging two miles a day.

Mrs. Weaver was induced in 1975 to enter the National Senior Olympics held in Irvine, 50 miles south of Los Angeles.

"I jogged there three years and got six gold medals, one for Saturday and one for Sunday (each year)," she said.

Baptist School Gives Up Charter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Still another Baptist school has taken courage from the Supreme Court's landmark Whisner decision and sent its representative over to the Ohio Board of Education to drop off its accreditation charter.

"Thanks, but no thanks," is the stance of three of the state's Baptist Church-sponsored schools that say they can't, in good conscience, keep their charters. The Mansfield Temple Christian School was the latest to visit the capital, charter in hand.

Dr. Thomas Leatherwood, like his counterparts at the other schools, says his Baptist congregation can't go along with what he calls the state's reliance on "humanism" for minimum standards.

"We maintain that as a Christian school we cannot seek our direction from the world or the community we serve (as directed by state standards)," Dr. Leatherwood says. "We have to seek one direction from the word of God."

Other complaints about state standards?

Yes, responds Dr. Leatherwood. On page 30 of the state document schools are directed to "...have a responsibility for the welfare of others and for being willing to sacrifice for the common good."

"We believe that ignores the Diety," Dr. Leatherwood explains.

Pastor of the Mansfield Baptist Temple as well as administrator of the Temple school, Dr. Leatherwood hits on a phrase that is becoming a cliché: "Render to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, but our children don't belong to Caesar."

The Mansfield school, like the others that have rejected their accreditation, is a member of Christian Schools of Ohio, a Cleveland-based association that claims about 100 member schools with some 5,000 students. The Heritage Christian School, Sandusky, and Temple Christian School, Dayton, were the first to hand over their state approval after the Whisner decision.

In that case, the high court overturned the convictions of 12 parents, including The Rev. Levi Whisner, who had been convicted in Darke County for failing to send their children to school.

The children had been in school—Rev. Whisner's Tabernacle Christian School in Bradford—but it had no state charter and wasn't about to ask for one.

The court ruled in part that the state minimum standards for accreditation "...overstep the boundary of reasonable regulation as applied to nonpublic religious schools."

The Christian Schools association claims still more members plan to turn over their charters and be done with state scrutiny.

Baptist School Gives Up Charter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Still another Baptist school has taken courage from the Supreme Court's landmark Whisner decision and sent its representative over to the Ohio Board of Education to drop off its accreditation charter.

"Thanks, but no thanks," is the stance of three of the state's Baptist Church-sponsored schools that say they can't, in good conscience, keep their charters. The Mansfield Temple Christian School was the latest to visit the capital, charter in hand.

Dr. Thomas Leatherwood, like his counterparts at the other schools, says his Baptist congregation can't go along with what he calls the state's reliance on "humanism" for minimum standards.

"We maintain that as a Christian school we cannot seek our direction from the world or the community we serve (as directed by state standards)," Dr. Leatherwood says. "We have to seek one direction from the word of God."

Other complaints about state standards?

Yes, responds Dr. Leatherwood. On page 30 of the state document schools are directed to "...have a responsibility for the welfare of others and for being willing to sacrifice for the common good."

"We believe that ignores the Deity," Dr. Leatherwood explains.

Pastor of the Mansfield Baptist Temple as well as administrator of the Temple school, Dr. Leatherwood hits on a phrase that is becoming a cliché: "Render to Caesar what belongs to Caesar, but our children don't belong to Caesar."

The Mansfield school, like the others that have rejected their accreditation, is a member of Christian Schools of Ohio, a Cleveland-based association that claims about 100 member schools with some 5,000 students. The Heritage Christian School, Sandusky, and Temple Christian School, Dayton, were the first to hand over their state approval after the Whisner decision.

In that case, the high court overturned the convictions of 12 parents, including The Rev. Levi Whisner, who had been convicted in Darke County for failing to send their children to school.

The children had been in school—Rev. Whisner's Tabernacle Christian School in Bradford—but it had no state charter and wasn't about to ask for one.

The court ruled in part that the state minimum standards for accreditation "...overstep the boundary of reasonable regulation as applied to nonpublic religious schools."

The Christian Schools association claims still more members plan to turn over their charters and be done with state scrutiny.

Wedding Vows Are Exchanged In March

SGT. and MRS. CHARLES HENRY KNAACK III

Miss Barbara Elizabeth Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Adams, Circleville, and Marine Sgt. Charles Henry Knaack III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Knaack, Lake Bluff, Illinois were united in marriage in the home of the bride 7:30 p.m., March 5.

The double ring ceremony was performed before the fireplace which was adorned with a large arrangement of white gladiolus and mums.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and mother. She selected for her wedding a formal length high waisted dress, featuring long puffed sleeves of lace. The dress was of ivory satin with a lace bodice overlay, and was accented by pearl and lace trim around the high waist and cuffs. She carried pink sweetheart roses and white mums. Her only jewelry was a silver chain, with crystal ball and matching earrings.

Mrs. Harold Adams, served as matron of honor for her sister-in-law.

Mr. Harold Knaack, brother of the bridegroom performed the duties of best man.

The reception was held immediately following the service. The four tier wedding cake centered the bridal table, flanked by arrangements of pink roses and white mums surrounding a white candle.

Hostesses were Mrs. Lloyd Shuttlesworth and Mrs. Ken Roark, both sisters of the bride.

The new Mrs. Knaack, is a 1974 graduate of Zane Trace High School. Sgt. Knaack, attended Lake Forest High School and joined the United States Marine Corps in 1971, he attended electronics school and is presently stationed with the Fourth Marine Division.

The couple will be residing in Alameda, California.

Fear Of Crime, Violence Haunts Elderly

Editor's Note: Crime in the nation's cities has created a life of fear for many old people. Nowhere is the fear more pervasive than in New York City's Bronx where a wave of brutal assaults on the elderly has focused attention on a problem that exists in many urban areas. This is the first of three stories on crime and the elderly.
By VICTORIA GRAHAM
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bessie is so frightened she lives on tranquilizers. Clara is so scared she sleeps on a hallway cot near her front door — for a fast getaway.
Ralph is so fearful that he pays extortion money.
Hans and Emma hanged themselves because they wouldn't live another day in fear.
Bessie, Clara and Ralph. All of them old; all of them afraid of crime.
So they flee the streets at dusk, barricade themselves behind their doors and don't come out until the sun is high.
Out of place, out of step, out of time, many urban elderly are prisoners in their homes, foreigners in the neighborhoods they settled, old people in a young and threatening world.
Out of fear, they break the patterns that give meaning to their lives. Gone are the soft sociable afternoons on park benches; the park has become a war zone.
They forego visits to children and grandchildren. They won't see doctors. They stop going to religious services.
"Crime leads to an unbelievable deprivation and reduction in the quality of life of older people who already have problems of fixed income, poor health, loss of loved ones and of their own role in life," says George Sunderland, coordinator of the Crime Prevention Program of the American Association of Retired Persons.
"An older person's sense of self can be very fragile, and crime is an invasion of that self. People die a little," says Alice M. Brophy, commissioner for the aging in New York City.
About 22 million Americans are over 65. Many live in cities where crime is high.
There are no comprehensive national statistics on crimes against the elderly. Police say that that nationwide, senior citizens are victimized less than the general public.
But in terms of purse snatch, robbery and assault, especially in cities, they are a disproportionately large victim group.
The Midwest Research Institute found, for example, that persons over 60 living in certain neighborhoods of Kansas City, Mo., can be 10 times more vulnerable to crime than younger persons in safer neighborhoods.
Most elderly victims are women, most are alone, most are attacked during the day in or near their homes.
Most are poor and live on fixed incomes. Younger victims can recoup losses through earnings; the elderly often cannot. Their savings often are the only thing keeping them independent of their children and out of nursing homes. They are also highly vulnerable to attack, less able to defend themselves and more likely to suffer serious and lasting injury, or death.
Every mugging, say police, is a potential murder.
Many old people also live alone and have few people to rely upon.
They often live in changing neighborhoods, where unemployed youths prey upon the core of elderly who cannot afford to move away.
All this makes the urban elderly a prime and easy target: Unable to resist, unable to identify their attackers and often unwilling to report crimes or press charges.
For this reason crimes against the elderly are called "crib jobs"—robbing an old person is like taking candy from a baby.
Everywhere, the elderly are being victimized: in the South Beach section of Miami Beach; in the 3rd, 4th and 5th wards of Houston; in the downtown area of San Diego.
But nowhere are the assaults more numerous or the fear more pervasive than in New York City's Bronx.
Hans and Emma Kabel killed themselves last October in their Bronx apartment where they had lived 50 years. Their home had been invaded and robbed twice and they had been attacked.
Finally, they laid out their funeral clothes, penned a note saying they could no longer live in fear and hanged themselves.

The kind of violence that drove the Kabels to suicide is reflected in the city's crime figures. New York's latest statistics on crime and the elderly showed there were 3,208 muggings of people over 60 last year — a 16 per cent increase over 1975. The elderly represent 21 per cent of all purse snatching victims, 27 per cent of all pocketbook robberies (where force, fear or weapon is used) and 27 per cent of all stickups in apartments. The elderly comprise only about 17 per cent of the city's population.
The Kabels' solution to their worries about such statistics and their real life experiences was extreme, but fear forces many elderly in the Bronx to take extreme measures. It frequently drives old people into lives of isolation. It drives still others to pay out their life's earnings for a feeble assurance of safety.

Police tell of one 75-year-old woman in the Bronx — let's call her Mary — who was so frightened after she was mugged that she never left her apartment. Her life shriveled.
Mary never carried out the garbage. So it piled up, and room by room was filled with refuse. Room by room was sealed off, as her life got smaller and smaller.
Nor would Mary venture out for food. She threw money out the window to kids who bought her candy bars. They, too, ripped her off, charging her double for candy.
Police learned of Mary when, letting down her guard, she was mugged as she mailed a letter.

Her life shriveled.
Mary never carried out the garbage. So it piled up, and room by room was filled with refuse. Room by room was sealed off, as her life got smaller and smaller.

The police tell of an elderly man — call him Ralph — one of the few elderly people of means, who thought money could insulate him. So he paid two brothers $1,000 in extortion money to protect him from the predators in his Bronx neighborhood. He was mugged anyway.

Look Twice At A Wrong Match

DEAR ABBY: I just slapped my son and realized it was because he looks like his father. I am trapped in a miserable marriage with three children (all accidents.) I married more out of stubbornness than love. My parents and even friends told me not to marry him, but I wouldn't listen. When we were going together, he'd borrow money from me and "forget" to pay it back. Now all the money is "his" money. He never takes me out, saying he can't afford it, but he always has enough to entertain his buddies. My second baby was 3 and my third was on the way before I got a washing machine. (And then it was his mother's old one.)
He used to twist my arm, now he hits me regularly. He tells me what to do, what to say and even what to wear. I wish I had listened, but it's too late now.

SORRY
DEAR SORRY: It may be too late for you, but it's not too late for girls presently involved with fellows who fit your husband's description.
A tip to girls "in love" with a man who everyone thinks is wrong for her: Listen and take a good long second look at him. And a third. And then a fourth.
(P.S. You didn't ask for any advice, but if you're interested in getting your head together, you're tired of being a punching bag and have had it with accidental pregnancies, write again. Have I got a letter for you!)

DEAR ABBY: Our granddaughter just completed her nursery school term at St. Edmunds Episcopal Church, and each parent was given a copy of some words of wisdom.
I hope you will find it worthy of printing in your column.

The District 10 Small Gasoline Engines Contest for vocational agriculture students was held last week at Logan Elm High School. Out of the 22 FFA Chapters in the District, fifteen teams participated representing Paint Valley, West Union, Pickaway-Ross JVS, Westfall, and Logan Elm Chapters.

Logan Elm teams placed first, third, and seventh in competition and West Union received second. Members of the first place team are Bill Leist and Steve Bowling. Thorndike Barnhart and Tracy Strous were on the third place team while Steve Gifford and Todd Boldoser received seventh place.

The Small Gasoline Engines Contest is designed to allow FFA members to compete within the chapter or among area schools in teams of two. Team

Ohioans Receive Tax Refunds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With less than one month before the April 15 state and federal income tax returns deadline, Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said Tuesday he has paid out nearly one million refunds.

To date, 944,880 Ohioans have received $23,043,124 in refunds, Ferguson said.

The average refund totals $26.79 this year compared to $22.98 last year, he said.

members compete against time as they disassemble their engine, take at least four accurate measurements of engine parts, and reassemble the engine so that it runs as well or better than it did before the contest.

The Logan Elm team of Bowling and Leist finish the contest with a remarkable time of just under 30 minutes. The top 3 teams in the district contest will now move on to the State Small Engines Contest to be held at Eastland Joint Vocational School on April 2.

Reasoner-Walters Split Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC has denied a published report that a decision has been reached patching up the relationship between newscasters Harry Reasoner and Barbara Walters.

The New York Post said that the co-anchors of the evening news show would stay together, with Roone Arledge promoted to head the news and documentary operations in addition to sports.

A network spokesman said Tuesday that no decision has been made on news division changes and that he did not know when one would be made. But there was speculation that ABC-TV President Fred Pierce would announce any changes when the network's affiliates meet next month.

Classes Start At Family Y

Nothing like Spring to bring the bloom and nothing like physical exercise to bring the physical bloom. With that in mind, the Spring session of informal education has been launched at the Pickaway County Family YMCA with lots of action classes for the whole family.

Classes began this week and include the following in the physical education area: for Mondays, there is Beginning Movements of Jazz Dancing for preschoolers, ages 3 to 5 with Debbie Wilson and Debbie Garrett instructing; Teenage Ballet, beginning and also intermediate, Debbie Wilson; and Women's Evening Exercises on Monday and Wednesday evenings, directed by Connie Staten.

On Tuesdays there is Women's Morning Slimnastics with Joan Eller, (Tuesdays and Thursdays); Ladies Jazz Class, Debbie Garrett; President's Fitness for girls; Girls Intermediate Jazz Class, Debbie Garrett.

Wednesdays will have Gymnastics for girls in four different classes, directed by Jill Weldon; Ladies Beginning Ballet and Tap class (mornings) with Joan Eller instructing; Acrobatics with Mrs. Eller and Bowling at Prairie Lanes with Fred Hoover serving as teacher.

Once a week exercises are on Thursday mornings 9 to 10 a.m.; and Yoga will be held on Thursdays with Evonne Studebaker as instructor; Ladies Ballet and Ladies Tap classes are planned for Thursdays with Joan Eller instructing; Pre-school Combination Dance Class for ages 3 to 5; Tap, Ballet and Jazz; Beginning Basics of Tap, Ballet, Acrobatic Dancing with Debbie Garrett, and Habeebas Dance of the Arts (Belly Dancing) will also be held on Thursdays.

The Friday classes will be Fun and Fitness for 3 to 5 year olds with Joan Eller, and Presidents Fitness for boys.

Saturday classes will include Teenage Jazz and Rhythms and the Young Ballerina Class with Debbie Garrett instructing.

GTE Trains Local Employees

Four Circleville district employees of General Telephone have completed courses at the company's technical training center at Marion.

Phyllis A. Young of 16181 Wagner Road, Laurelville, completed a course covering phases of business office procedures, including voice training, basic service and equipment, and customer requests.

A service representative in the company's Circleville district, Young has been with General for eight years.

Lois R. Brown of 371 Clark Drive, completed a comprehensive study of various equipment and services available to business accounts.

A service representative in the Circleville district, Brown has been with General for six months.

Franklin J. Mace Jr. of 627 Garden Parkway has received a certificate for completing a course covering the operation of a new high-speed printer used for sending typed messages. Participants also discussed the procedures for installing and testing the equipment.

A combination worker in the company's Circleville district, Mace has been with General for 12 years.

Phyllis A. Young of 16181 Wagner Road, Laurelville, completed a four-day course covering billing procedures, sales techniques and processing of customer payments.

A service representative in the company's Circleville district, Young has been with General for eight years.

The technical training school offers more than 90 courses and seminars. Classroom training helps employees develop job skills and stay abreast of technological advancement.

Charles E. Scribner, 1858-1926, born in Mount Vernon, obtained 400 patents on electrical devices. —AP

Katangan Rebels Make Gains

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Katangan rebels appear to be firmly entrenched and fighting hard in southern Zaire despite government claims of success against them.

It was learned Tuesday that the invading exiles from neighboring Angola apparently have regained control of Kasaji, a town 130 miles west of Kolwezi, the copper mining center in southern Shaba province, the former Katanga.

Kasaji was first reported taken by the invaders on March 14 after heavy fighting in which President Mobutu Sese Seko's forces were estimated to have suffered about 200 casualties. The government claimed on Saturday that its troops had recaptured the town, which is nearly halfway between the Angolan border and the Kolwezi mines, the likely immediate target of the invasion.

Copper from Shaba is Zaire's biggest export, and about half of the U.S. supply of cobalt, a byproduct of the copper mines, comes from the province.

The Katangans also were reported still holding the towns of Dilolo, on the border west of Kasaji and Kolwezi; Sandoa and Kesenge, and Kapanga, 155 miles northeast of Dilolo and 45 miles from the border, despite government claims of "massive bombing raids" that were driving the invaders back into Angola.

Foreign observers doubted these claims, estimating that Zaire's air force at the most has only eight operational jets and that they carry only two rockets each.

The invasion force is estimated to consist of 2,000 Katangan troops who fled to Angola after losing a war for the independence of their province from the former Belgian Congo in the 1960s. Five thousand more Katangan troops are reported still in Angola.

Zaire's 25,000-man army is handicapped by fuel shortages, poor communications and long supply lines. According to one report, the government owes its troops in some areas two months pay but has managed to pay those in Shaba.

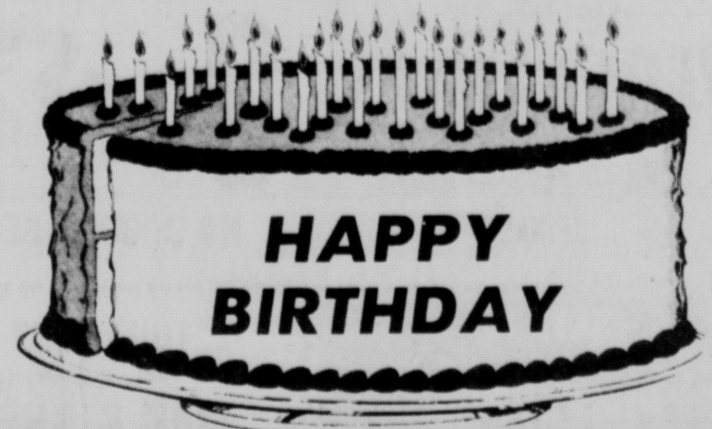

Mobutu charges Cuban troops in Angola trained and may be leading the invaders. Cuban President Fidel Castro denies this. Mobutu also charges that the Katangans are equipped with Soviet arms, which is quite likely, and the official Chinese news agency Hsinhua alleged today that the invasion "is a war of aggression masterminded and financed by Soviet imperialism."

The United States, which has a $35-million military aid program for Zaire, has shipped Mobutu's government two plane loads of so-called nonlethal equipment since the invasion, including spare parts for transport planes, troop carriers, rations, uniforms and medical supplies. Belgium has sent ammunition and light weapons.

Ohioans Receive Tax Refunds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With less than one month before the April 15 state and federal income tax returns deadline, Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson said Tuesday he has paid out nearly one million refunds.

To date, 944,880 Ohioans have received $23,043,124 in refunds, Ferguson said.

The average refund totals $26.79 this year compared to $22.98 last year, he said.

Classes Start At Family Y

Nothing like Spring to bring the bloom and nothing like physical exercise to bring the physical bloom. With that in mind, the Spring session of informal education has been launched at the Pickaway County Family YMCA with lots of action classes for the whole family.

Classes began this week and include the following in the physical education area: for Mondays, there is Beginning Movements of Jazz Dancing for preschoolers, ages 3 to 5 with Debbi Wilson and Debbi Garrett instructing; Teenage Ballet, beginning and also intermediate, Debbi Wilson; and Women's Evening Exercises on Monday and Wednesday evenings, directed by Connie Staten.

On Tuesdays there is Women's Morning Slimnastics with Joan Eller, (Tuesdays and Thursdays); Ladies Jazz Class, Debbi Garrett; President's Fitness for girls; Girls Intermediate Jazz Class, Debbi Garrett.

Wednesdays will have Gymnastics for girls in four different classes, directed by Jill Weldon; Ladies Beginning Ballet and Tap class (mornings) with Joan Eller instructing; Acrobatics with Mrs. Eller and Bowling at Prairie Lanes with Fred Hoover serving as teacher.

Once a week exercises are on Thursday mornings 9 to 10 a.m.; and Yoga will be held on Thursdays with Evonne Studebaker as instructor; Ladies Ballet and Ladies Tap classes are planned for Thursdays with Joan Eller instructing; Pre-school Combination Dance Class for ages 3 to 5; Tap, Ballet and Jazz; Beginning Basics of Tap, Ballet, Acrobatic Dancing with Debbi Garrett, and Habeebas Dance of the Arts (Belly Dancing) will also be held on Thursdays.

The Friday classes will be Fun and Fitness for 3 to 5 year olds with Joan Eller, and Presidents Fitness for boys.

Saturday classes will include Teenage Jazz and Rhythms and the Young Ballerina Class with Debbi Garrett instructing.

GTE Trains Local Employees

Four Circleville district employees of General Telephone have completed courses at the company's technical training center at Marion.

Phyllis A. Young of 16181 Wagner Road, Laurelville, completed a course covering phases of business office procedures, including voice training, basic service and equipment, and customer requests.

A service representative in the company's Circleville district, Young has been with General for eight years.

Lois R. Brown of 371 Clark Drive, completed a comprehensive study of various equipment and services available to business accounts.

A service representative in the Circleville district, Brown has been with General for six months.

Franklin J. Mace Jr. of 627 Garden Parkway has received a certificate for completing a course covering the operation of a new high-speed printer used for sending typed messages. Participants also discussed the procedures for installing and testing the equipment.

A combination worker in the company's Circleville district, Mace has been with General for 12 years.

Phyllis A. Young of 16181 Wagner Road, Laurelville, completed a four-day course covering billing procedures, sales techniques and processing of customer payments.

A service representative in the company's Circleville district, Young has been with General for eight years. The technical training school offers more than 90 courses and seminars. Classroom training helps employees develop job skills and stay abreast of technological advancement.

Katangan Rebels Make Gains

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Katangan rebels appear to be firmly entrenched and fighting hard in southern Zaire despite government claims of success against them.

It was learned Tuesday that the invading exiles from neighboring Angola apparently have regained control of Kasaji, a town 130 miles west of Kolwezi, the copper mining center in southern Shaba province, the former Katanga.

Kasaji was first reported taken by the invaders on March 14 after heavy fighting in which President Mobutu Sese Seko's forces were estimated to have suffered about 200 casualties. The government claimed on Saturday that its troops had recaptured the town, which is nearly halfway between the Angolan border and the Kolwezi mines, the likely immediate target of the invasion.

Copper from Shaba is Zaire's biggest export, and about half of the U.S. supply of cobalt, a byproduct of the copper mines, comes from the province.

The Katangans also were reported still holding the towns of Dilolo, on the border west of Kasaji and Kolwezi; Sandao and Kesenge, and Kapanga, 155 miles northeast of Dilolo and 45 miles from the border, despite government claims of "massive bombing raids" that were driving the invaders back into Angola.

Foreign observers doubted these claims, estimating that Zaire's air force at the most has only eight operational jets and that they carry only two rockets each.

The invasion force is estimated to consist of 2,000 Katangan troops who fled to Angola after losing a war for the independence of their province from the former Belgian Congo in the 1960s. Five thousand more Katangan troops are reported still in Angola.

Zaire's 25,000-man army is handicapped by fuel shortages, poor communications and long supply lines. According to one report, the government owes its troops in some areas two months pay but has managed to pay those in Shaba.

Mobutu charges Cuban troops in Angola trained and may be leading the invaders. Cuban President Fidel Castro denies this. Mobutu also charges that the Katangans are equipped with Soviet arms, which is quite likely, and the official Chinese news agency Hsinhua alleged today that the invasion "is a war of aggression masterminded and financed by Soviet imperialism."

The United States, which has a $35-million military aid program for Zaire, has shipped Mobutu's government two plane loads of so-called nonlethal equipment since the invasion, including spare parts for transport planes, troop carriers, rations, uniforms and medical supplies. Belgium has sent ammunition and light weapons.

Historical Society Elects Officers

Future programs and projects were discussed during the annual dinner meeting of Pickaway County Historical Society on Thursday evening in the Parish Hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

Reports of trustees updated members on progress made during the past few meetings as to developments underway and planned for the near future.

Elected as officers for the coming year are: Robert Ely, president; Harold Clifton, vice president; Mrs. William Curtiss, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Jack Mader, recording secretary; and Virgil Cress, treasurer.

Trustees named are: Dr. Mary Holman, Ralph Woolever, Joe Tomlinson, Dale Minor, Roger Southward and Charles Gerhardt.

Harold Clifton spoke of restoring City Hall. He said that although city offices were placed in other locations the building should be preserved as a historical landmark.

Mrs. Emmett Barnhart asked for volunteers for inventory on April 17. Mrs. Curtiss expressed concern as to the removing of landmarks in the county by construction of new buildings.

A plaque and special recognition honored Miss Dhel Renick for her work and dedication to the museum.

For many years she has given her time and knowledge of Pickaway County to all who were interested. She not only served as a guide for those who visited the Clarke-May House but worked in many capacities to provide special displays and catalogue donations received from many sources, many from other than present residents of Pickaway County.

The resignation of Rex Haecker from the board of trustees was regrettably accepted as he is now a trustee of the Ohio Historical Society. He will continue to assist the local society in its endeavors to provide area residents information of its history and important contributions to Pickaway County.

Miss Nelle Oesterle has accepted the position of chairman of the membership committee. A standing ovation was given to Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Barr for their work during the past six years in this capacity. There are over 500 members with many lifetime memberships noted.

Many special displays are planned at the museum for the summer months and tours of homes will be conducted. Visitors will be welcomed at the Clarke-May House and at the Ted

High pressure has moved into Ohio in the wake of Tuesday's winter storm. Clear skies and light winds let temperatures fall into the 20s overnight. A cold front stretching from Lake Superior to Iowa was expected to move across Ohio this afternoon and evening, producing cloudiness as it moved in. Some showers or flurries were expected to develop over the northern counties. Temperatures were to climb into the 40s this afternoon with lows in the 20s tonight. Clearing skies Thursday will be accompanied by highs in the 40s.

Bowen To Sign Helmet Repeal

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Otis R. Bowen says he'll sign a bill repealing a 1967 law requiring motorcyclists to wear helmets.

The repealer, already approved in the House, passed the Senate 38-9 Monday, despite testimony that six other states have seen a 20 per cent increase in motorcycle fatalities after repealing similar laws.

Meanwhile, the Senate also rebuffed an attempt to insert a repeal of Indiana's direct primary law into a minor election bill, and the House unanimously passed a measure to encourage voluntary branding of livestock. A spokesman said Bowen had taken a position early in the session that he would sign the helmet repealer if it passed the House and Senate.

Milk Price Supports Increased

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter has decided to give milk producers a larger boost in basic price supports than either his own agriculture secretary or the National Milk Production Federation recommended.

The April 1 increase — to $9 per 100 pounds from $8.26 — is also more in dollars and cents than Carter said during the campaign he would have approved.

It could boost consumer milk prices by about 6.2 cents a gallon in two or three months if all of it is passed on.

At the direction of White House staff aides, the Agriculture Department presented Carter three options: 80 per cent of parity, roughly 83 per cent and 85 per cent.

Over the weekend, he picked 83 per cent.

By law, the support must be reset at least every April 1. It can be anywhere between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, which is a formula designed to give farmers the same buying power they had in 1910-14, when costs and incomes were said to be in balance.

The current $8.26 per hundredweight support was set last October under a policy of quarterly reviews of the dollar-and-cents level's relationship to parity. At that time, $8.26 was 80 per cent, but is close to 75 per cent now.

Also at that time, USDA figures show, a retail gallon of milk sold for about $1.67. In January the average was $1.66 and the farmers' "share" of that was down to 54 per cent from 57 per cent in October.

The quarterly review policy was initiated after President Gerald R. Ford vetoed bills that would have required it, always with a readjustment to 85 per cent of parity.

During the presidential campaign, Carter told dairy groups he would have signed those bills. At the time he made the statements, White House aides have calculated, 85 per cent would have come out to $8.87.

If the administration had merely readjusted the level next week to 80 per cent, the support would have been about $8.67. That would have been a 5 per cent cost-of-living increase for farmers and about 3.5 cents a gallon more in the retail price.

That's what Bergland recommended. The largest milk-producers group did likewise, with a top official saying, "That's all the market will stand right now."

Because feed prices moderated last year, farmers increased milk production. Consumers drank more milk and ate more dairy products simultaneously, keeping prices in the long-depressed markets from dropping substantially.

Further price hikes, however, could mean consumer resistance and a build-up in surpluses the government would have to buy under the support program, if past patterns are followed.

The 85 per cent option before Carter would have produced a $9.21-per-100-pounds support and an 8-cent boost in the price of a gallon.

Harsha Reports

BY WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
Sixth District Of Ohio

Some long-awaited answers to agonizing questions concerning the fate of 2,550 American servicemen still unaccounted for in Southeast Asia could finally be forthcoming.

Hopes for new information on those Americans listed by the Defense Department as missing in action rest on the success of a Presidential Commission which left this week for Vietnam and Laos.

It is the first official group from the United States to visit Hanoi since the House Select Committee on Missing Persons in Southeast Asia did so in December 1975.

The delegation will try to determine the fate of Americans known to be still alive, including prisoners of war who may have survived, deserters, and those who were stranded by the U.S. evacuation of Saigon.

How successful it will be depends on the degree of cooperation provided by the Communist government of Vietnam. It has a moral as well as legal obligation to assist in accounting for these men.

The MIA problem has long been a source of great concern to me, as it has been to many in Congress. I supported establishment of the House Select Committee, which was charged with the responsibility of learning the fate of those Americans still unaccounted for at the end of hostilities.

After ending a 15-month study and investigation, the committee, although almost evenly divided, concluded in its report that those Americans unaccounted for should be considered dead.

However, the report hardly settled the issue, since certain members disagreed with the conclusion that all of the missing were dead and with the recommendation calling for status changes on all remaining POWs and MIAs.

In fairness to the members of the select committee, they could only go so far, given the callous attitude of the Vietnamese Communists toward the anguish and suffering of families of our missing servicemen.

The Socialist Republic of Vietnam, by its own admissions, has information about our MIAs which it has refused to make available. Instead, the Communists have used MIA information as a bargaining chip with which it seeks to extort money and other concessions from the United States.

President Ford persistently demanded that Hanoi live up to its legal and humanitarian obligations to account for the MIAs as a precondition to the consideration of other matters. He refused to grant diplomatic recognition to Vietnam, and on three different occasions directed our representative to the Security Council to veto Vietnam's application for United Nations membership.

The Communist Government of Vietnam flagrantly violated the 1973 Paris Agreement on Ending the War and Restoring Peace in Vietnam, which provided that "the parties shall help each other to get information about those military personnel and foreign civilians of the parties missing in action . . . and to take any such other measures as may be required to get information about those still considered missing in action."

And for what it's worth, they also violated the provisions of a resolution, adopted by the U.N. General Assembly in 1974, which called on parties to armed conflicts, regardless of their character or location, during and after the end of hostilities, to help locate and mark the graves of the dead; to facilitate the disinterment and return of the remains, if requested by their families; and to provide information about those who are missing in action.

President Carter expressed hope that the mission would lead to a complete normalization of relations between the United States and Vietnam. However, he will be hard-pressed to justify such a policy, given the human rights requirements he is placing on other nations, many of whom are our allies.

Even if the government now running Vietnam were to show one act of humanity in making MIA information available, that would hardly erase its past and present human rights violations, or halt the continued outright butchery of its people.

If Vietnam really wants to become a legitimate and respected member of the family of nations, it must accept the responsibilities that come with it.

A change in her attitude on the missing-in-action question would be an encouraging sign, but at this point, even guarded optimism about any immediate success might be unrealistic.

In the meantime, families of the missing are resigned once again, as some have been for more than a decade, to wait and hope.

Legal Profession Backs Pay Hikes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some of the biggest guns in Ohio's legal profession are pushing a bill that provides Ohio judges at all levels their first pay hike since Nov. 16, 1973. Increases would average 25 per cent.

The leadoff witness before the House Judiciary Committee was Ohio Supreme Court Justice C. William O'Neill, followed a short time later by Jamille Jamra of Toledo, president of the Ohio State Bar Association.

O'Neill, a former governor and one-time speaker of the House, said he felt "uncomfortable" before the committee—the bill would give him a boost from $43,500 to $54,375 a year—but felt the job done in recent years by Ohio's judges was deserving of the legislature's attention.

In particular, the chief justice

Contract Signed For Services

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Department of Economic and Community Development has signed a $50,000 contract with the Cincinnati Minority Contractors Assistance Corp. to provide services to minority contractors in the Cincinnati area. Director James A. Duerk said Tuesday.

"The contract will help to develop and strengthen Cincinnati's minority contractors by providing them with management, technical, bonding and financial assistance," Duerk said.

CMCAC will serve as a clearinghouse for local, state and federal bid requests for construction jobs by serving as a depository for information and job invitations for those governmental bodies.

mentioned the seemingly hopeless backlog of cases that had courts throughout Ohio stymied until five years ago, when the Supreme Court implemented new procedural rules.

Since that time, dockets have come from far behind to the point that later this year, O'Neill said he expects caseloads in many instances to become current. Some already have, he said.

O'Neill, who also is chairman of the National Conference of Chief Justices, said he has watched developments in other states through the nation and that "the courts of this state have made a record that is not unequalled."

Jamra told the judiciary committee that present salaries of judges are not in line with their increasing responsibilities. "We cannot afford to lose good judges. The record of the past few years is clear that Ohio judges have been doing their job and doing it well," the Toledo attorney added.

The bill was requested by the Ohio Judicial Conference, which provided expert witnesses on the cost of living since the judges got their last pay hike.

John P. Henderson of Michigan State University said the federal cost of living index increased 11 per cent in 1974, 9 per cent in 1975, and 5.8 per cent last year—for a total of 25.8 per cent over the last three years.

Additionally, he said the last increase received by the judges put them into a higher tax bracket, meaning a further erosion in their purchasing power.

Under the bill, the six justices on the Supreme Court would be increased from $40,000 a year to $50,000, while judges on the 11 districts courts of appeals would receive a hike from $37,000 to $46,250.

The base pay of common pleas judges would be increased from $20,000 to $28,000 annually—they also get increments based on population—and municipal judges would get not more than $2,000 less than common pleas judges in the same county.

Free Schools Conference Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The fifth annual conference of the Ohio Free Schools Association will be held April 2.

President Glenn R. Branch of Cleveland will preside at this year's session on "Ohio Challenge to Freedom and Public Education."

State Fruit Crop Reported In Trouble

JACKSON, Ohio (AP) — Orchard owners in southern Ohio say the area's peach crop has been wiped out by the hard winter, but a crop specialist says there is no way to tell yet how this year's fruit crop will do on a statewide basis.

Dr. Eldon Stang of the Ohio State University Cooperative Extension Service in Columbus said information on the condition of Ohio's fruit crop is inconclusive. He said he won't be able to issue any official statement on the crop's prospects before mid-April.

Orchardists in southern Ohio say that they are hoping to avoid frost damage to other fruits. Orchard owners attending a recent meeting of the Jackson County Horticultural Society, said the severe winter cold had killed almost all of the peach buds on trees in southern Ohio.

They said the recent warm weather has now pushed the buds on other fruits close to the blossom stage where they would be susceptible to damage from spring frosts.

Jackson County growers said their conversations indicate the peach budkill extends through much of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Lawrence County Commissioner W.H. Kaiser, owner of an orchard near Crown City, said he checked buds in January and found none alive.

Bud damage is expected, Kaiser said, when temperatures dip more than five degrees below zero. Damage can occur at higher temperatures in mild winters, particularly, when there are sudden big temperature drops.

Horton Dempsey and Dick Brown said temperatures reached 24 below zero late in January at their orchards in southern Jackson County.

Several orchardists said bud damage was extensive north of the Ohio River and east of the Mississippi River. They said a few growers in the western part of Ohio have told them they are expecting partial crops.

Veteran orchardists at the meeting recalled that in the 1940s they had several consecutive years of peach crops, but said in recent years they had been averaging only about one crop every five years.

Last year's peach crop in southern Ohio was very small, they said, because of frost damage.

Westfall Seniors Present Class Play

WESTFALL SENIOR CLASS PLAY STAFF

By EMILIE CALDWELL
The Senior Class of Westfall High School will present "Aunt Cathie's Cat," April 7, in the high school auditorium. "Aunt Cathie's Cat" is a three act mystery comedy with the plot being that two old women and their nieces move into a strange old house with sinister servants and a dumb maid. Mysterious things happen and Aunt Cathy attempts to be Sherlock Holmes in solving all the mysteries.

Bill Pryor, the young real estate agent, is portrayed by Phil Scott, who was also in last year's class play. Miss Jane Trimble, one of the bumbling spinsters, is played by Terry Akison. Miss Cathy Trimble, the super-sleuth spinster, is depicted by last year's student director, Paula Vincent.

Peggy Trimble and Dorothy Trimble, the young girls, are played by veteran actresses, Melody Ward and Judy Linton. Maria Garcia and Jose Garcia, the sinister servants, are played by Sue Monett and Bob Rackham. The gas man and the policeman are portrayed by Thadd Howell and Rick Hafler, both experienced actors. Liz Pryor, the real estate agent's sister, is played by Elaine Steinhauser. Tilly Pitts, the dumb maid, is depicted by Jo Carol Hawkes, who played a frumpy janitor in last year's play. Miss Walker, a sales lady, is played by Theresa Wrightsel, who is also the Student Director of the play. Mr. David Brent, an old flame of Miss Jane Trimble's, is played by Dave Clem.

The play is under the excellent direction of Mrs. Kay La Porte, the home economics teacher at Westfall. Make up will be coordinated and applied by Valerie Corbin, with assistance from Emilie Caldwell, who is the public relations director and is assisted by Jo Carol Hawkes.

The cast is an experienced group and this play is sure to be a success, so the "Mustang Country" Staff invites you to come to the play and show the group that their hard work is appreciated.

Guidance News

By BRENDA PUCKETT
Sgt. Tom Foster visited the Senior American Government classes and gave students their scores on the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery that was given in December. He also talked with students interested in a career in the armed services.

Students who are interested in a career in communications are welcome to attend the program being sponsored on March 29, by the American School of Broadcasting.

Plans are being finalized for sophomore students to visit the Pickaway Ross Vocational Center on April 4, 5, and 6. Students will visit each area for a short time and eat dinner before coming back to Westfall in the afternoon. The second round application deadline has been set for April 15. We thank Ray Pack and Mrs. Whitney for their assistance in guiding the future education trip to PRVC.

ROUND-UP

March 24 - County National Honor Society Banquet at Logan Elm
March 25 - Annual Staff sells ads in the community
March 26 - Central District Science Fair
April 4 - Lab band cuts record
April 7 - Senior Class Play "Aunt Cathie's Cat"

Government Teacher Tries New Procedure

By MELODY WARD
The past three six week periods John Tatman, the American Government teacher at Westfall, has been trying a new grading system. The grading system consists of a student writing papers, preparing topical scrapbooks, and various other projects to earn points. The point system is: notebooks 15 points; position papers - 35 points; term papers - 100 points; discussions - 15 points; class reports - 30 points; book reports - 25 points; book reviews - 40 points; debates - 30 points; audio-visual presentation - 75 points; topical scrapbook - 15 points; short report - 15 points; and a short paper - 55 points.

Also points were taken away for any misconduct in class. The grading scale was 100 points for an "A", 75 - 99 points for a "B", 50 - 74 points for a "C", 25-49 points for a "D", and anything lower was failing.

Overall Tatman was pleased with the students' reactions to his system. He feels that this system of grading is more sound because it offers the student different activities and they can research what they are most interested in pertaining to government. Also, if a student does not receive the full credit for his work he can correct the problems and hand it in a second time, to possibly receive the remaining points. Tatman commented, "Students learn better if they are doing what they do best."

He also feels his system gives the student a sense of responsibility. His comment about that was, "Since education is to prepare people for the future and responsibility, then this system is helping to prepare them to take on their responsibilities."

As far as the student reaction, Tatman said he was "both gratified and disturbed." He said most of the students have accepted, but that there was a large minority that had refused their responsibility to themselves to try and receive a good grade.

Tatman mentioned that there were about 11 people that had not handed any work in, during the past three six week periods.

F.F.A. Elects Officers

By JO CAROL HAWKES
Westfall's chapter of the Future Farmers of America recently held their election of officers for the coming year. Results were as follows: Mike Fausnaugh, president, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fausnaugh of Route 3; Mark Henson, vice-president, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henson of Route 3; Darren Metzger, secretary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke Metzger of Route 1, Williamsport; Paula Azbell, assistant secretary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Azbell of Route 1, Williamsport; Rodney Grambo, treasurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grambo of Route 3; Jeff Day, assistant treasurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Day of Route 1, New Holland; Brian Stevens, sentinel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stevens of Route 1, Williamsport; Jeff Johnson, student advisor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson of Route 1, New Holland; and Jeff Carroll, news reporter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carroll of Route 207, New Holland.

Plans of next year's able officers, under the expert supervision of Dan Cryder, include the continuation of projects and programs which have been successful in past years. Officers are also interested in initiating projects geared at making more money and interesting large numbers of students in agriculture.

Best wishes for a successful future to the F.F.A. and its officers.

Westfall Seniors Present Class Play

WESTFALL SENIOR CLASS PLAY STAFF

By EMILIE CALDWELL

The Senior Class of Westfall High School will present "Aunt Cathie's Cat," April 7, in the high school auditorium. "Aunt Cathie's Cat" is a three act mystery comedy with the plot being that two old women and their nieces move into a strange old house with sinister servants and a dumb maid. Mysterious things happen and Aunt Cathie attempts to be Sherlock Holmes in solving all the mysteries.

Bill Pryor, the young real estate agent, is portrayed by Phil Scott, who was also in last year's class play. Miss Jane Trimble, one of the bumbling spinsters, is played by Terry Akison. Miss Cathy Trimble, the super-sleuth spinster, is depicted by last year's student director, Paula Vincent.

Peggy Trimble and Dorothy Trimble, the young girls, are played by veteran actresses, Melody Ward and Judy Linton. Maria Garcia and Jose Garcia, the sinister servants, are played by Sue Monett and Bob Rackham. The gas man and the policeman are portrayed by Thadd Howell and Rick Hafner, both experienced actors. Liz Pryor, the real estate agent's sister, is played by Elaine Steinhauer. Tilly Pitts, the dumb maid, is depicted by Jo Carol Hawkes, who played a frumpy janitor in last year's play. Miss Walker, a sales lady, is played by Theresa Wrightsel, who is also the Student Director of the play. Mr. David Brent, an old flame of Miss Jane Trimble's, is played by Dave Clem.

The play is under the excellent direction of Mrs. Kay La Porte, the home economics teacher at Westfall.

Make up will be coordinated and applied by Valerie Corbin, with assistance from Emilie Caldwell, who is the public relations director and is assisted by Jo Carol Hawkes.

The cast is an experienced group and this play is sure to be a success, so the "Mustang Country" Staff invites you to come to the play and show the group that their hard work is appreciated.

Guidance News

By BRENDA PUCKETT

Sgt. Tom Foster visited the Senior American Government classes and gave students their scores on the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery that was given in December. He also talked with students interested in a career in the armed services.

Students who are interested in a career in communications are welcome to attend the program being sponsored on March 29, by the American School of Broadcasting.

Plans are being finalized for sophomore students to visit the Pickaway Ross Vocational Center on April 4, 5, and 6. Students will visit each area for a short time and eat dinner before coming back to Westfall in the afternoon. The second round application deadline has been set for April 15. We thank Ray Pack and Mrs. Whitney for their assistance in guiding the future education trip to PRVC.

ROUND-UP

March 24 - County National Honor Society Banquet at Logan Elm
March 25 - Annual Staff sells ads in the community

March 26 - Central District Science Fair

April 4 - Lab band cuts record
April 7 - Senior Class Play "Aunt Cathie's Cat"

Government Teacher Tries New Procedure

By MELODY WARD

The past three six week periods John Tatman, the American Government teacher at Westfall, has been trying a new grading system. The grading system consists of a student writing papers, preparing topical scrapbooks, and various other projects to earn points. The point system is: notebooks - 15 points; position papers - 35 points; term papers - 100 points; discussions - 15 points; class reports - 30 points; book reports - 25 points; book reviews - 40 points; debates - 30 points; audio-visual presentation - 75 points; topical scrapbook - 15 points; short report - 15 points; and a short paper - 55 points.

Also points were taken away for any misconduct in class. The grading scale was 100 points for an "A", 75-99 points for a "B", 50-74 points for a "C", 25-49 points for a "D," and anything lower was failing.

Overall Tatman was pleased with the students' reactions to his system. He feels that this system of grading is more sound because it offers the student different activities and they can research what they are most interested in pertaining to government. Also, if a student does not receive the full credit for his work he can correct the problems and hand it in a second time, to possibly receive the remaining points. Tatman commented, "Students learn better if they are doing what they do best."

He also feels his system gives the student a sense of responsibility. His comment about that was, "Since education is to prepare people for the future and responsibility, then this system is helping to prepare them to take on their responsibilities."

As far as the student reaction, Tatman said he was "both gratified and disturbed." He said most of the students have accepted, but that there was a large minority that had refused their responsibility to themselves to try and receive a good grade.

Tatman mentioned that there were about 11 people that had not handed any work in, during the past three six week periods.

Cave, Roof, Scanlan Are Logan Elm's Most Valuable Players Tuesday

By CRAIG ALLISON
Herald Sports Writer

Chuck Cave, Annette Roof, and John Scanlan walked off with most valuable player awards at Tuesday evening's Logan Elm winter sports banquet.

The banquet was held in the McDowell School cafeteria and auditorium, and was sponsored by the Logan Elm Booster Club. The master of ceremonies was P.J. Ryal of WNRE radio.

Frank Seimer gave the invocation before the nearly overflow crowd enjoyed dinner.

After a meal, the program was started in the auditorium. Awards were presented to the seventh and eighth grade basketball teams. Clayton Stahr coached the seventh grade squad, while Phil Roe handled the eighth graders.

Nanci Dettra introduced the seventh and eighth grade cheerleaders to the crowd and presented them with awards.

The freshmen basketball team was next on the program. They were coached by Dan Boyd, and he presented them with awards.

Coach Christy Owens introduced her undefeated reserve girls' team to the crowd. Letters and letter inserts were presented to them also.

Gary Owens, coach of the girls' varsity, spoke next. Special awards were presented to the girls. The most improved player was Pattie Larson, and the best foul shooter was Diane Martin. The award for the most rebounds went to Debbie Larson, and the player with the best shooting percentage was Annette Roof. Miss Roof also was awarded the Most Valuable Player Trophy for the girls' team for the 1976-77 season. The players presented Mr. and Mrs. Owens with a gift for their appreciation.

Coach Stan Wilamowski presented his wrestling team during the next segment of the program. Special awards were also presented to the wrestlers. The most dedicated trophy went to John Scanlan, and the most improved wrestler was judged to be Brent Gifford. The most dedicated and the most improved wrestler awards are voted on by the players.

Jim Teets, a freshman member of the varsity wrestling squad, was presented the Brian Herron Memorial Sportsmanship Award. Herron was an outstanding athlete at Logan Elm High School, and was killed in a tragic auto accident in December of 1975. According to Wilamowski, all of Logan Elm's opposing coaches were contacted and their opinions were sought before the winner of the award was determined.

The award for the most pins went to Jim Weaver and Dave Kennedy, with the award for the most takedowns

MOST VALUABLE — Pictured above are the most valuable athletes in their respective sports at Tuesday night's winter sports banquet at Logan Elm High School. In the front row are Annette Roof, MVP for the girls; basketball team, and Russ Kamler, who was presented with a special award from the coaches. Kamler has served as a going to Dave Calton and Weaver.

John Scanlan was presented with the most valuable wrestler award for the season.

The WNRE-Coca-Cola Awards were presented next by P.J. Ryal and a representative from the Scioto Coca-Cola Bottling Company. Player of the week awards were presented to Debbie and Patti Larson, Annette Roof, Beth Bell, and Diane Martin. Boys' player of the week awards went to Jeff Collins, Randy Pontious, Mark Skinner, Terry Wright, and Chuck Cave. The player of the year award was presented to Cave.

Next on the program was John Corcoran, who presented his reserve basketball squad and he gave them playing awards. The players gave Corcoran a gift certificate in appreciation of his help during the season.

Coach Butch Kobel took the podium next. He, like all the other coaches, thanked the Booster Club and parents, along with others responsible for the successful season enjoyed by the Braves.

In special awards, the Mid State

League runner-up trophy was given to the seniors. The best foul shooting award was given to Jeff Collins, and the most improved player was judged to be Terry Wright.

An appreciation trophy, the equivalent of a "most valuable manager" award was presented to Russ Kamler, who has managed Logan Elm athletic teams throughout his high school career, and in the coaches' words "proved invaluable."

The defensive player award went to Mark Skinner. The man with the most assists (119) was Collins. Collins and Skinner also shared the "Mr. Hustle" award. Cave took rebounding honors, and by a unanimous player vote, he was awarded the most valuable player trophy.

All Mid State League awards were presented to Collins and Cave for their performances in the conference this season. Cave also was given an award for the Mid State League player of the year for 1976-1977.

The players presented Kobel with a plaque and $50 "for all his help this season."

Kobel also presented his wife with a manager for Logan Elm's athletic teams during his high school career, and in the words of Butch Kobel, "he has proved invaluable with his service." In the back are Chuck Cave, basketball MVP, and John Scanlan, the MVP for the Braves' wrestling squad.

planter, and related to the crowd that perhaps a coaches' wife had the most unenviable position of all.

The last presentation of the evening was made by the Herald Sports staff. The annual Bob Bowsher Memorial Award was given to Chuck Cave. The Bowsher Trophy is emblematic of the best high school basketball player in Pickaway County. A plaque was presented to Cave for him to keep, and he was also presented with the Bowsher Trophy for Logan Elm High School. The trophy will be displayed throughout the coming year at the high school.

Paul Brown, athletic director at Logan Elm, spoke briefly at the close of the program. He congratulated all the athletes, especially Cave, who in his words, "did a fine job in representing Logan Elm High School this season."

With the program completed, Frank Seimer adjourned the crowd with the benediction.

Chicago Bulls Whip L.A. Lakers, 102-86

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The Chicago Bulls continue their amazing surge, and part of the reason for their recent success is their early season failure.

"We're not playing any differently now, except that we're a little more mature and the shots are starting to fall in," said Chicago Coach Ed Badger, whose Bulls beat the Los Angeles Lakers 102-86 Tuesday night for their sixth victory in a row and 17th in the last 18 National Basketball Association games.

"We have so much confidence now, it's hard to believe we lost so many games," said captain Norm Van Lier of the Bulls, who got off to a 2-14 start this season. "I think the difference is that we know what we want to do and if we goof up a play, we don't suddenly fall apart."

The Bulls did not goof up many plays against the Lakers, sending the crowd of 21,046 — the biggest pro basketball attendance in Chicago history — home happy.

Chicago pulled away in the third period when Wilbur Holland, Mickey Johnson and Scott May combined for 21 points, putting the Bulls ahead 76-63. Los Angeles closed the gap to 10 points, but Holland scored six points and Artis Gilmore added two stuffs, putting the game out of reach.

Holland led the Bulls with 24 points, while Johnson grabbed 21 rebounds. Kareem AbdulJabbar and Earl Tatum each scored 18 points for the Lakers. Despite the victory, Chicago failed to gain in its bid to overtake Kansas City for the sixth and final playoff berth in the Western Conference as the Kings beat the Golden State Warriors 126-113. The Seattle SuperSonics, also in the scramble, were beaten by the Cleveland Cavaliers 108-104.

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday night, the Boston Celtics defeated the San Antonio Spurs 108-104, the New York Knicks topped the Milwaukee Bucks 125-115, the Houston Rockets stopped the Indiana Pacers 106-99, the Atlanta Hawks nipped the Buffalo Braves 86-84 and the New Orleans Jazz beat the Portland Trail Blazers 106-95.

CHS Cage Banquet Set

The Circleville Athletic Booster will hold the winter banquet honoring the junior high and high school basketball teams and cheerleaders, 6:30 p.m. Monday in the high school cafeteria.

It will be a carryin dinner and everyone is asked to bring two covered dishes and their own table service. The Booster Club will furnish roll, butter and drinks.

David Gillespie will serve as master of ceremonies and William McKinney will offer the Invocation and Benediction.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

The regular Booster Club meeting scheduled for tonight has been canceled.

Page, A's Stop San Diego Padres

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Mitchell Page is a realist. He knows that the gaudy .610 batting average he now has will not last a whole season. But the Oakland A's rookie outfielder-first baseman feels he can hit at least half that during the 1977 baseball season.

"If I play, I know I can hit," Page said after driving in one run with a triple and scoring the winning run as Oakland edged the San Diego Padres 3-2 in an exhibition game Tuesday.

Acquired from the Pittsburgh Pirates in a trade last week, Page has 11 hits in 18 at-bats this spring. Five of his hits have been for extra bases.

In the fifth inning, with the score tied 2-2, Page walked, moved to third on Jerry Tabb's single and scored on a groundout.

In other exhibition games Tuesday, the Montreal Expos defeated the Minnesota Twins 12-8, the Philadelphia Phillies blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0, the Detroit Tigers stopped the Boston Red Sox 6-2, the Milwaukee Brewers crushed the Cleveland Indians 15-4, the Baltimore Orioles trounced the Chicago White Sox 12-4, the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Cincinnati Reds 10-2, the Seattle Mariners defeated the California Angels 10-5, the Houston Astros nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5, the New York Mets downed the Toronto Blue Jays 6-4, the Atlanta Braves beat the New York Yankees 7-5, the San Francisco Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-5 and the Texas Rangers topped the Kansas City Royals 8-5.

Veteran Steve Carlton and rookie Randy Lerch combined for a three-hitter as Philadelphia blanked Pittsburgh. Carlton gave up two hits in five innings, while Lerch struck out six in four innings.

A one-out double by Sandy Alomar in the ninth inning snapped a 5-5 tie and led Texas to its victory over Kansas City. Biff Pocoroba slammed a pinch-hit double in the seventh and scored the winning run on Barry Bonell's single as Atlanta won its fourth straight game.

John Montefusco hurled four hitless innings and scored San Francisco's first run after walking to lead off the Giants' three-run third. A triple by John Milner in the fifth drove in Lee Mazzilli with a tie-breaking run and leading the Mets to their first victory in three games against the American League expansion Blue Jays.

Jose Cruz drove in four runs with a homer and a triple, leading Houston over Los Angeles. Rookie Juan Bernhardt homered and tripled twice as Seattle pounded 15 hits in snapping a four-game losing streak. A three-run homer by Roger Freed and John Denny's one-hit pitching over the first five innings led St. Louis to its victory over the defending world champion Reds.

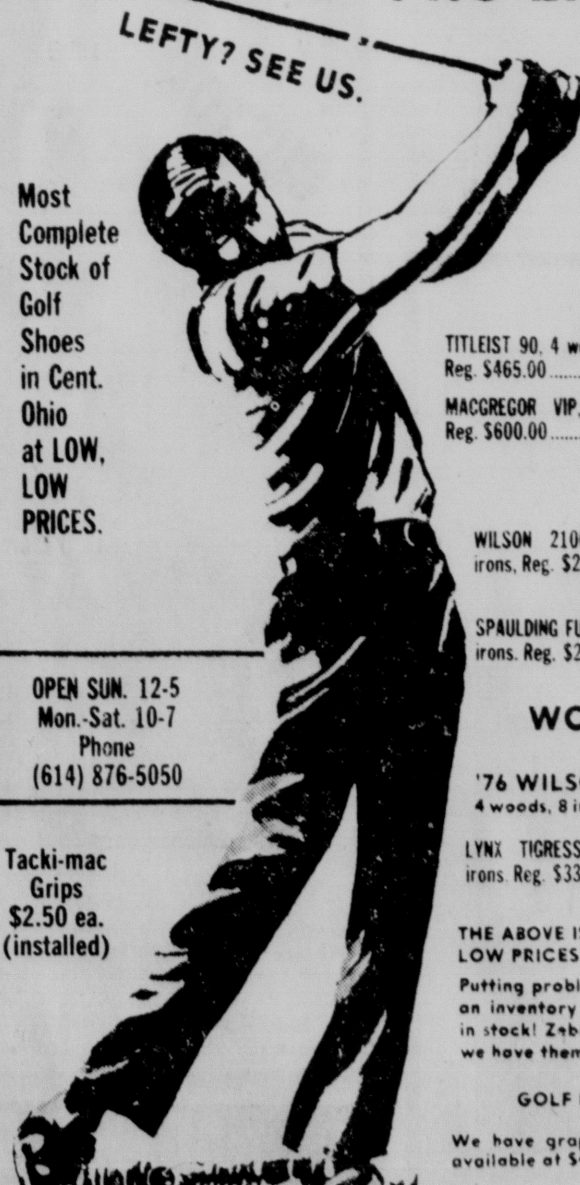

Lee May pounded out a pair of homers, driving in five runs and pacing Baltimore's victory over the White Sox. Sixto Lezcano's grand slam homer led an 18-hit Milwaukee attack that buried Cleveland. Tom Veryzer followed Aurelio Rodriguez' three-run homer with a solo homer as Detroit exploded for six runs in the fourth inning. Gary Carter and Pete Mackanin smacked home runs in Montreal's 19-hit attack against Minnesota.

CHARITY TOSS — Three members of the Circleville Kiwanis Moundbuilders Club — Larry Lewis, Harry Surcamp and Ron Hall — get ready for the donkey basketball game they will play in against the Circleville Kiwanis Club. The game will be played 8 p.m. March 30 at the Circleville High School gymnasium. All proceeds will go to Easter Seals. For advance tickets see any Kiwanis members.

All-Ohio Class A Cage Winners Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Joe Faine, twice all-state and Ohio's Class A Player of the Year, is one of those do-everything performers in small school boys high school basketball.

"He plays anywhere he wants on the floor," said one sports writer who has followed Faine's career.

The 6-foot-4 senior from Rawson Cory-Rawson has averaged more than 30 points in gaining a first team All-Ohio berth two straight seasons. He also averages double figures in rebounding and sank 51 per cent of his floor shots this winter.

Sharing the top Class A honors with Faine was State Class A Coach of the Year Dan Wendell, who guided Morral Ridgedale to top ranking in The Associated Press state poll. Ridgedale won 16 of 17 regular season games.

One of Wendell's aces, 6-1 junior Brad Weston, joined Faine on the eight-player first unit, selected on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Weston averaged 21.4 points.

Weston is the third brother to make first team all-state at Ridgedale. The previous ones were Dan, who went on to Ohio State, and Randy, a 1976 allstar now performing for Ashland College.

Another junior who made the first team this time was 6-3 Baxter Jones of Windham.

The trio was joined by 6-5 Jim Hoops of Hamler Henry, 5-11 Steve Cikach of Cuyahoga Heights, 6-1 Kevin O'Dell of Arcanum and 6-3 Ed Andes of Shadyside, all seniors.

On the second team were 6-3 Dennis Nau of Caldwell, 6-3 Jay Meyer of Covington, 6-4 Mike Rengert of Cardington, 6-6 Dave Smith of Old Fort, 6-3 Joe Butcher of Stewart Federal-Hocking, 6-4 Clay Dill of LaGrange Keystone, 6-2 Jeff Rupp of Creston Norwayne and 6-4 Chip Brauer of Racine Southern.

Dill and Rupp are juniors on the otherwise all-senior No. 2 unit.

Third team selections were 6-2 Jeff

Jahn of Sparta Highland, 6-2 Steve Rossi of Middletown Fenwick, 6-3 Steve Burton of Yellow Springs, 6-1 Jeff Chandler of Freeport Lakeland, 6-foot Jack Numbers of Strasburg, 6-3 Jack Braidic of Sebring, 5-11 Allan Young of Fairport Harbor Harding and 6-2 Jon Williams of Oak Hill. Braidic is the lone junior and the rest are seniors.

The Associated Press' Ohio Class A high school boys allstate basketball selections, made on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters:

FIRST TEAM

Joe Faine, Rawson Cory-Rawson, 6-foot-4 Sr., 30.3 points per game; Jim Hoops, Hamler Henry, 6-5 Sr., 22.0; Coy Prater, Richmond Dale Southeastern, 6-foot Sr., 15.9; Brad Weston, Morral Ridgedale, 6-1 Jr., 21.4; Steve Cikach, Cuyahoga Heights, 5-11 Sr., 26.5; Baxter Jones, Windham, 6-3 Jr., 20.0; Kevin O'Dell, Arcanum, 6-1 Sr., 23.2, and Ed Andes, Shadyside, 6-3 Sr., 24.6.

SECOND TEAM

Dennis Nau, Caldwell, 6-3 Sr., 23.0; Jay Meyer, Covington, 6-3 Sr., 23.1; Mike Rengert, Cardington, 6-4 Sr., 20.1; Dave Smith, Old Fort, 6-6 Sr., 29.0; Clay Dill, LaGrange Keystone, 6-4 Jr., 28.7; Joe Butcher, Stewart Federal-Hocking, 6-3 Sr., 21.7; Jeff Rupp, Creston Norwayne, 6-2 Jr., 21.0, and Chip Brauer, Racine Southern, 6-4 Sr., 18.3.

TV's Martin, Trego Are MVPs

TOP HONORS — Terry Trego and Perri Martin were voted by their teammates as Most Valuable Varsity Cage Players and received the awards at the Teays Valley Winter Sports Banquet Tuesday night.

Senior forward Perri Martin and senior guard Terry Trego walked away with the Most Valuable Player trophies at the Teays Valley Winter Sports Banquet.

Miss Martin scored 204 points, took 71 steals, had 67 assists and 205 rebounds as she led the Vikings to a Metropolitan League Crown. The girls were also sectional tournament champions.

Trego, the always tough and cagey little guard on the boys varsity led the team this year with his experience and scoring.

After introduction of the cheerleaders, and presentation of awards, Coach Dick Kidwell, who acted as master of ceremonies, gave accolades to Miss Angelique "Angie" Rinehart and her Metro League Championship girls basketball team.

Kidwell pointed out that Miss Rinehart has compiled an outstanding 78-14 record in her five years as coach of the Vikings. This computes to an .857 winning per centage.

At Teays Valley, awards are traditionally given to the most improved players also.

Angie Rinehart introduced the girls reserve team and presented trophies to Chris Adkins most improved and Vicki Crumley, best defensive effort.

P.J. Stiles received the best offensive effort trophy and the Most Valuable Player Award.

Sophomore guard Deb Baxter, who scored a school record 276 points during the season was the recipient of the best offensive player award.

Perri Martin and Deb Baxter were introduced by Miss Rinehart as the All-League selections from Teays Valley.

Receiving honorable mention were Suzy Jones, Florie Mesner and Rita Slone.

Roger Campbell introduced his freshman team which missed a perfect season by a single point loss to Olen-tangy. In addition the team won third place at the South Central Ohio League Freshman Tournament at Miami Trace.

Best free throw shooter was Dean Brown, most improved was Doug Moss and the Most Valuable Player was R. D. Roese who led the team in scoring.

Bill Lewis introduced the Metropolitan League Champion Reserve team which compiled a 13-5 record.

The best free throw shooter was Allan Ett; the most improved was

Scott Lutz. The team voted freshman John Sanders the Most Valuable Player award. Sanders led the team in scoring.

The team presented Lewis an award as the league champion coach.

Coach Robert Hoover presented his varsity squad and gave varsity awards to the players. Jeff Voss received the most improved player trophy and Tim Tosca edged out Mike Johnsen for the best free throw shooter in a contest Hoover said went right down to the wire. Tosca has won the award four years in a row. This year he had a 68 per cent average.

Rick Sabine and Jim Rhymer presented Coke awards to Terry Trego, Jeff Voss, Debbie Baxter, Rita Slone, Mike Johnsen and Perri Martin.

The two presented the Girls County Cage Player of the Year Award to Perri Martin.

All-Ohio Class A Cage Winners Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Joe Faine, twice all-state and Ohio's Class A Player of the Year, is one of those do-everything performers in small school boys high school basketball.

"He plays anywhere he wants on the floor," said one sports writer who has followed Faine's career.

The 6-foot-4 senior from Rawson Cory-Rawson has averaged more than 30 points in gaining a first team All-Ohio berth two straight seasons. He also averages double figures in rebounding and sank 51 per cent of his floor shots this winter.

Sharing the top Class A honors with Faine was State Class A Coach of the Year Dan Wendell, who guided Morral Ridgedale to top ranking in The Associated Press state poll. Ridgedale won 16 of 17 regular season games.

One of Wendell's aces, 6-1 junior Brad Weston, joined Faine on the eight-player first unit, selected on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Weston averaged 21.4 points. Weston is the third brother to make first team all-state at Ridgedale. The previous ones were Dan, who went on to Ohio State, and Randy, a 1976 allstar now performing for Ashland College.

Another junior who made the first team this time was 6-3 Baxter Jones of Windham.

The trio was joined by 6-5 Jim Hoops of Hamler Henry, 511 Steve Cihak of Cuyahoga Heights, 6-1 Kevin O'Dell of Arcanum and 6-3 Ed Andes of Shadyside, all seniors.

On the second team were 6-3 Dennis Nau of Caldwell, 6-3 Jay Meyer of Covington, 6-4 Mike Rengert of Cardington, 6-4 Dave Smith of Old Fort, 6-3 Joe Butcher of Stewart Federal-Hocking, 6-4 Jeff Dill of LaGrange Keystone, 6-2 Jeff Rupp of Creston Norwayne and 6-4 Chip Brauer of Racine Southern.

Dill and Rupp are juniors on the otherwise all-senior No. 2 unit.

Third team selections were 6-2 Jeff

Jahn of Sparta Highland, 6-2 Steve Rossi of Middletown Fenwick, 6-3 Steve Burton of Yellow Springs, 6-1 Jeff Chandler of Freeport Lakeland, 6-3 Jack Numbers of Strasburg, 6-3 Jack Braidic of Sebring, 5-11 Allan Young of Fairport Harbor Harding and 6-2 Jon Williams of Oak Hill. Braidic is the lone junior and the rest are seniors.

The Associated Press' Ohio Class A high school boys allstate basketball selections, made on the recommendations of a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters:

TV's Martin, Trego Are MVPs

TOP HONORS — Terry Trego and Perri Martin were voted by their teammates as Most Valuable Varsity Cage Players and received the awards at the Teays Valley Winter Sports Banquet Tuesday night.

Senior forward Perri Martin and senior guard Terry Trego walked away with the Most Valuable Player trophies at the Teays Valley Winter Sports Banquet.

Miss Martin scored 204 points, took 71 steals, had 67 assists and 205 rebounds as she led the Vikings to a Metropolitan League Crown. The girls were also sectional tournament champions.

Trego, the always tough and cagey little guard on the boys varsity led the team this year with his experience and scoring.

After introduction of the cheerleaders, and presentation of awards, Coach Dick Kidwell, who acted as master of ceremonies, gave accolades to Miss Angelique "Angie" Rinehart and her Metro League Championship girls basketball team.

Kidwell pointed out that Miss Rinehart has compiled an outstanding 78-14 record in her five years as coach of the Vikings. This computes to an .857 winning per centage.

At Teays Valley, awards are traditionally given to the most improved players also.

Angie Rinehart introduced the girls reserve team and presented trophies to Chris Adkins most improved and Vicki Crumley, best defensive effort.

P.J. Stiles received the best offensive effort trophy and the Most Valuable Player Award.

Three sophomores won trophies on the varsity squad. Shelley Marion was most improved, and Rita Slone was the best defensive player.

Roger Campbell introduced his freshman team which missed a perfect season by a single point loss to Olen-tangy. In addition the team won third place at the South Central Ohio League Freshman Tournament at Miami Trace.

Best free throw shooter was Dean Brown, most improved was Doug Moss and the Most Valuable Player was R. D. Roese who led the team in scoring.

Bill Lewis introduced the Metropolitan League Champion Reserve team which compiled a 13-5 record.

The best free throw shooter was Allan Ett; the most improved was

Scott Lutz. The team voted freshman John Sanders the Most Valuable Player award. Sanders led the team in scoring.

The team presented Lewis an award as the league champion coach.

Coach Robert Hoover presented his varsity squad and gave varsity awards to the players. Jeff Voss received the most improved player trophy and Tim Tosca edged out Mike Johnson for the best free throw shooter in a contest Hoover said went right down to the wire. Tosca has won the award four years in a row. This year he had a 68 per cent average.

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may be faced with some complex situations, but your stability and willingness to persevere against odds will not only see you through, but increase your prestige.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Artistry, featuring the unusual which has intrinsic value and an imaginative approach stand out as winners here. Others can benefit by your exceptional know-how.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Your extraordinary intuition, plus practical know-how, can help you to solve knotty problems more easily now; also help to further your advancement. Keep mind open to new ideas.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Here is a top-flight day for you and your activities. Let your instincts, good judgment and good planning guide you in preparing for busy days ahead.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): As with Cancer, you, too, can expect busy days to come. Meet with others, exchange ideas, ask questions. You will find many ways in which to improve your position.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Be prudent, of course, but don't pinch pennies where spending is warranted. There are times when stretching the budget a bit pays off.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Even your brightest ideas could meet with opposition, but if you're sure you're on the right track, go ahead and launch them. Others will come around to your way of thinking later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A day for discretion. Be sure you do not offend friends or co-workers by thoughtless words. Work out disagreements, if any, with logic — and graciousness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stellar influences stimulate your ingenuity, adaptability and capacity for extra work and production on short notice. All will be rewarded.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Teamwork will be important now, so make it a point to associate and work with those whose interests and aims are similar to your own.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unruliness. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can thus be prevented. Shun extremes.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A different tack may be the trick you need now. See all sides of a project or discussion, and do not permit pleasure to supersede duties.

YOU BORN TODAY, unlike many other Aries, have been gifted with the traits needed to make a great success in the financial world. Yet here we find a paradox since, while you have a great yearning for the material things in life — and the ability to acquire them — you often lose out through sheer impulsiveness and impracticality. Your eyes may be wide open to gainful opportunity, but you often rush into new ventures without careful preparation and you allow overenthusiasm to dim your foresight. Once having learned self-control in this respect, however, you should be very successful. Aside from finance, other fields in which you could excel include the law, statesmanship, music, the theater and literature. Birthdate of:

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon, silent until now about his career and the Watergate scandal that drove him from office in 1974, starts talking today for history, television and money.

And British talk show star David Frost, whose exclusive interviews with him will air in May, calls the talks he's taping with Nixon easily the toughest and most challenging task of his entire career.

"Particularly since Richard M. Nixon is renowned to be an incredibly private person, and we want to see the real Richard Nixon, find out the answer to that enigma," Frost said.

Among those who've helped Frost prepare for the Nixon meetings are Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward, the Washington Post reporters whose work broke open the Watergate story that led to Nixon's resignation.

Frost, whose company opened an office in Washington, D.C., last July to research the Nixon story, says Woodward and Bernstein "are but two of hundreds of people who've given us their help."

"We've literally talked to hundreds of people, had a fulltime staff of four working since July, and they've talked to hundreds of people who participated in the Nixon saga — for, against and in the middle."

Starting today, Frost is to interview Nixon 12 times, two hours each time, with the last interview on April 20. He says they're working at a private home near Nixon's house in San Clemente.

Neither Frost nor his production company, Paradine Productions, will say what the 64-year-old former president is being paid for the interviews. But published reports put the fee at around $600,000.

At least 118 television stations in the United States will air the interviews, to be edited down to four 90-minute programs shown in sequence on May 4, 12, 19 and 25, says Syndicast Services, the company selling the show.

And, says Marvin Minoff, Frost's business partner, the Mutual Broadcasting System has brought radio rights to the Nixon interviews and will feed them to MBS affiliates for airing the same nights as the telecasts.

Frost, 37, met with Nixon two weeks ago to iron out technical details of the interview-taping. He described him as appearing "remarkably resilient," as he first found him on Aug. 9, 1975, when Nixon signed his contract with Frost, a year to the day after resigning from office.

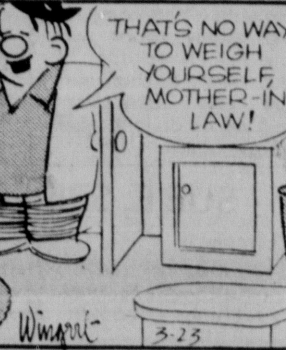

"It was as if he went through that enormous emotional decompression and has come to terms with the most dramatic rise and fall in American political history," Frost said.

Asked to describe Nixon's mood, he said: "Composed, I suppose, is the best word, because he's about to embark on these 12 sessions of two-hour interviews, which are a tremendous undertaking, really."

"I'm a television man and I've never done 12 two-hour sessions." According to Minoff, the first televised show will deal with Nixon's last days in office, the second with his foreign policies, the third with his domestic policies and last with Watergate.

Senior Citizen Center Open House Scheduled Sunday

Sunday from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. has been designated Open House for the Pickaway Senior Center. The Senior Center is now in the Community Building located at 8010 U.S. Route 22 East.

This is the former location of the old Children's Home. The Community Building has been remodeled and decorated at the expense of the Pickaway County Commissioners. They are providing the building for the Senior Center temporarily until other arrangements are made. They also pay the utilities and furnish part of the funding for the Senior Center.

The Center has a spacious two rooms and with the cooperation of the commissioners, the Senior Center Staff and members it has developed into a very cheerful, homey atmosphere for persons to congregate for activities and services. The staff includes:

Center Director and Supporting Services Director

Wanda Hamilton, will be the staff member in charge of all center activities and services, all programs generating from the Center and its membership. The finances of the Center, the staff and volunteers will be her responsibility. Publicity of the Center, supporting services and Friendly Visitors are added duties.

Mrs. Hamilton has the employment service for the ladies who work for the elderly for pay, the outreach and filling out difficult forms for the elderly. She is responsible for Center equipment, Community Building and equipment, and its care. She is directly responsible for these duties and programs to the Pickaway County Commissioners and the Council on Aging and the Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging. Jennie Eccard, Barbara Robinson, and Carol Tinney are Center Staff under her.

Senior Service Coordinator

Vera Saunders is directly responsible to the Commissioners, the Council on Aging and the Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging for her duties and reports. She is presently working on housing for Senior Citizens and a new multi-purpose Center. She works with new programs provided through government funding and brings new training programs to the elderly. She is responsible for the Council on Aging and promotes other Senior Citizen groups in our county. She instructs the Art Class and is responsible for the Armchair Travel program. She is responsible for her own publicity.

Information & Referral Director

Sharon Eyerman is also directly responsible to the Commissioners, the Council on Aging and the Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging. Her title clearly indicates her position. If someone calls to ask for confidential information she gives the answer or refers them to the agency, organization, or individual who can help them. She has quantities of information gathered so she can help those who need it. Sharon answers most calls at the Center and refers them to the proper person. She provides reports of her duties to the Commissioners and the Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging every quarter. She also provides secretarial duties for Mrs. Saunders. She is responsible for her own publicity.

Supporting Services Assistant

Jennie Eccard is working part time and will provide transportation to the doctor, groceries, banking for the elderly. For those who need special assistance, she will take care of those needs. She also provides cheerful visits and extra loving care for shut-ins.

Center Secretary

Barbara Robinson is working part-time as the secretary for the Center. She will help the director with the newsletter and any other office duties. Wednesday afternoons she will go to the veterans party with volunteers and on Friday afternoons she will go to Pickaway Manor with the Friendly Visitors. The membership file is her responsibility.

Center Bookkeeper

Carol Tinney works part-time as bookkeeper and keeps the Center's financial records. She prepares the financial reports for the Commissioners and Area Agency. She works with the Center Director to keep within the budget.

The public is invited to Open House. There will be displays showing the activities and services available to the Senior Citizens in Pickaway County. There are many people in our community who do not realize how many services and activities originate from the Senior Center. All services provided by the Center will be displayed.

On display will be all type of crafts which have been made by our Senior Citizens. All Seniors have been encouraged to bring their crafts for display.

The Friendly Visitors and their activities and services will be displayed at the Center and they will be on hand to answer questions.

Telephone Reassurance will be displayed and Louise Heine and Leora Sayre will be available for questions on this program.

All those persons at the young tender age of 90 and over are invited especially so they can be honored. They will be Kings and Queens for the day.

Paintings will be displayed by those members who had paintings in the Governor's Art Show.

Plans for the Senior Citizen Housing and the new multi-purpose Center will also be displayed. Vera Saunders will answer questions on this project.

Other activities such as bowling, euchre and other games will be displayed and questions answered in each category.

Information and Referral Director, Sharon Eyerman will be available to answer questions about her program.

PICKAWAY COUNTY COMMUNITY BUILDING

PLANNING PANEL — Planning the open house to be held Sunday at the Pickaway County Senior Center are, from the left, Don Strous, Robert Liston, commissioners; Vera Saunders, Sharon Eyerman, Wanda Hamilton, senior citizen officials; Carl Schein, commissioner.

Deputies Probe Theft Reports

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated two theft reports Tuesday.

Thieves took about 25 field tile from the Commercial Point Road farm of L. J. Welsh, Route 3.

The thieves apparently climbed a fence to gain access to the 10-inch tile, which were loaded into their waiting station wagon.

Welsh was alerted to the theft by a neighbor and chased the thieves west on Van Meter Road before losing their trail.

The incident is being investigated by Deputy Sheriff Lowell Ferguson.

Jim Mapes, manager of Circle Valley Carpets, 185 Island Road, told Deputy Jim Deal that thieves took a citizen band radio from the company van.

The radio, a 23-channel Amphenol, is valued at $150.

Worker Hurt In Cave In

A construction worker suffered minor injuries when a wall of dirt caved in and buried him to his chest Tuesday afternoon.

Paul Alfman, 40, Shawnee, was treated by the Circleville Emergency Medical Team and personnel at Berger Hospital for injuries to his right leg.

Alfman, a construction worker for the George Igel Company, Columbus, was tailman on a crew of workers who were laying sewer pipe behind the A and P Building on Island Road.

He was working in a 20-foot deep pit when dirt on the south wall caved in. He was freed by workmen.
